NAVEL HARVEST IN COUNTY FOR HOLIDAY TRADE BEGUN TODAY

Fruit Ripens Between Three and Four Weeks Earlier Than Usual

TOTAL OF 200 CARS MAY BE SHIPPED OUT

Picking Crews Instructed to Select Only High Colored Oranges

With navels ripening between three weeks and a month earlier than usual Orange county will send between 150 and 200 cars of her choice fruit into the eastern markets for holiday consumption.

The Orange County Fruit exchange and other associations and independent packers and shippers have started in on the harvest, the most of the work starting today.

Instructions have been given to picking crews to exercise the utmost care in selecting the fruit for the holiday trade—that is to pick only the fruit that is highly colored. Oranges in this immediate vicinity are coloring fast and in some instances color is almost perfect.

Meets 8 to 1 Test

That portion of the crop which is now available for picking is said to be ripe enough to meet the 8 to 1 test, covered by an ordinance which has been adopted in some of the Orange growing counties and which was turned down by the Orange County Board of Supervisors last week because it was considered that its adoption at this time to go into effect fifteen days after its adoption, would have been too late to have been effective and because of the fact that it is expected a state law covering the point will be passed within the year.

Shippers are now facing a car shortage, and prices received by the growers for the early crop will probably be governed by facilities for moving the fruit. Should it be that cars in sufficient numbers cannot be had to ship the fruit available, prices will rule high on the eastern markets because of the shortage of fruit in those markets. On the other hand, if all the fruit can be handled quotations will rule low.

$2 Per Box

With full shipping facilities the prices will probably range around $2 per box f. o. b. packing house.

Tulare county has already shipped some navels into the eastern markets which brought $3.50 per box f. o. b. packing house.

9 PERISH WHEN DEATH STEERS AUTO STAGE

VANCOUVER, Nov. 13.—That a dead man drove possibly eleven people and certainly nine to death Saturday night when George Smith sent a crowded motor stage through an open draw of the north arm bridge and plunged his car of human freight into the icy waters of the Frazer river is the startling theory suggested today by acquaintances of the chauffeur.

Smith is reported to have suffered from heart disease. That his pulse suddenly ceased is the only rational explanation that will ever be given of his act in rushing the vehicle ahead with warning red lights shining clear against him.

Smith knew the road bridge perfectly and was accounted a very safe and careful driver.

His car was absolutely under control. It is impossible that if he had still been alive and conscious he should have failed to stop when he saw the signals, and plunged into the river after breaking through the barrier stretched across the bridge gap.

Three of the passengers were rescued.

ENJOYED FIGHT—WILSON

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Nov. 13.—President Wilson broke the silence he has maintained since the election in replying to a boisterous greeting of welcome from the students of Williams College here to say that he had enjoyed the political fight just ended.

"Politics is the only means we have of expressing opinions we believe to be of advantage to the country," he said. "I enjoyed this fight, but after all a man who is not willing to fight for the things he believes in is without the red-blooded qualities necessary to accomplish results."

"We are not only waiting for the California returns but also for those from Minnesota, New Mexico and New Hampshire. I believe the country really wants to know who the President is before formal announcement is made."

BUN PRICE GOES UP AND LOAVES SOON WILL BE HIGHER TOO

Bread Boost In Santa Ana Is Now Looming As Inevitable By Nov. 19

Boosts in retail bread prices in Santa Ana are looming more distinctly than ever. The action of nearly all bakers in the city in raising the price of a number of goods formerly selling at 10 cents, such as buns, rolls and cookies, to 15 cents, presages an increase in the price of loaves by the time the city ordinance calling for a standard weight of 12 and 24 ounces for loaves goes into effect on November 19. The county ordinance also goes into effect at that date.

Concerted and definite action by Santa Ana bakers, looking toward increases in prices still remains to be taken, but informal conferences among the bakers are becoming more general, indicating beyond all doubt that the Santa Ana housewife soon will be compelled to pay 6 and 12 cents for loaves she formerly was able to buy for 5 and 10 cents.

Following the action of County Sealer of Weights and Measures George [illegible] in notifying the bakers that he would begin today to enforce the regulation of the state sealer calling for standard loaves of 12 and 24 ounces, Santa Ana bakers today placed loaves on their shelves scaling according to the regulations.

15-CENT LOAF APPEARS IN TACOMA

TACOMA, Nov. 13.—The fifteen-cent loaf of bread made its appearance in Tacoma today at the same time that the popular five-cent loaf went to that bourne from which it will never return.

WILSON TO MAKE NO STATEMENT UNTIL HE GETS HUGHES' WIRE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—President Wilson is back at work in Washington today. He faced a vast job which must be cleaned up rapidly pending the receipt of the message from Chas. E. Hughes conceding Democratic victory at the election.

The President withheld any announcement of policies for the next four years. He has intimated to friends, however, that he will issue some statement on receipt of Hughes' congratulations.

The President will start to work very soon on a message to Congress to be read when that body convenes next month.

TELLS RURAL CREDIT PLAN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Herbert Quick in an address before the annual conference of county agent leaders declared the farm loan act would be administered in the interests of actual farming and actual farmers and not in the interest of landlordism or tenancy.

He described the rural credits plan as "a system not for loaning government money to farmers, but a system by which the farmer is afforded the opportunity of borrowing from investors on security."

SURROUND STORE BOY BURGLARS IN LA HABRA ARE CAUGHT

Glimmer of Flashlight Leads to Discovery of Youths Hiding In Store

The glimmer of a flashlight in a store led to the surrounding of a store at La Habra by fifteen armed men, and the capture of two boys who may be responsible for a number of burglaries in the northern part of the county resulted.

Willie Goodnight, aged 19, and Henry Foster, 16, both of Long Beach, are in the county jail. They were caught hiding under a table in the warehouse of Sargent's Hardware Store at La Habra at midnight last night.

An oil well crew was going home from work when the flash of a light was seen in the store. Immediately the men aroused neighbors, and about fifteen armed men quickly surrounded the store. The front door was then opened, and the lights were turned on. There was no burglar in sight. No fusillade of bullets met the [illegible]

A search of the place resulted in locating two youths under a table in the warehouse. Their only weapon was an unloaded 22-caliber single-shot revolver, for which they had no cartridges.

Under Sheriff Iman and Deputy Eells went from Santa Ana to La Habra, and returned with the youthful pair. Foster, half-Spanish, said he was in juvenile court in Los Angeles for the robbery of a Jap camp on the Laguna ranch near Los Alamitos. The two boys live at Long Beach, but Goodnight has relatives at La Habra and has been there a good deal.

It developed that the boys had been camping in the neighborhood. They drove a horse to a cart. Foster said that the outfit belongs to his mother.

After the boys were caught last night, an examination of the store showed that they had piled up, evidently to take away, some knives, paint, pencils, belt lacing, cartridges and two flashlights.

The boys deny that they have entered other stores. Goodnight declared that he could prove where he was the night two places were robbed at La Habra about two weeks ago.

DEATH, ALWAYS NEAR, BECOMES JOKE AMONG MEN AT BATTLE FRONT

LONDON, Nov. 13.—In the fighting on the Somme where legions of men face death daily, narrow escapes from sudden extermination become trifling incidents to be joked about at the end of the day. A sergeant in a Yorkshire regiment declares nothing a man may do seems to affect his chances of becoming a "casualty."

"I've seen careful men get winged before the dare-devils," said the sergeant, "and I've seen the careless men get hit when the cautious one escapes. Recently, one of the men in my platoon was hit in the mouth. The bullet came from an angle, broke one of his teeth and glanced off, just grazing his lip. Ten minutes later, a bullet dented his identity disc and later still a bomb exploded in his pocket, bursting outwards and hardly bruising his side."

Doctors tell of one man in the fighting rear Le Sars who went through the experience of having three bombs explode in his pocket without hurting him. A corporal, wearing a steel helmet, was hit by a bullet which went in at the front of the headgear, passed around his head, and went out the back, smashing the steel of the helmet. His head showed no marks.

Three soldiers were standing together when a bomb burst at their feet. A sergeant was blown into the air and badly wounded while the others were unscratched.

SHIP FIRE PERILS 90

BALTIMORE, Nov. 13.—With fire sweeping between her decks the Italian steamer Albania passed up the Patapsco river, sending out wireless calls for help. The fireboat Deluge was sent from here to her assistance. After five hours' work the fire was extinguished. It had burned more than twelve hours, imperiling her crew of ninety men. The Albania is under charter to the Italian government in munition service and was bound here in ballast.

21 HURT IN TWO WRECKS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—Twenty-two persons were injured, one perhaps fatally, in motor accidents in and about Los Angeles. Mrs. Catherine Downey, 77, 626 East Main street, Watts, was a passenger in an automobile driven by her son-in-law, Daniel Sughrue. The machine skidded on a car track at Stephenson and Boyle avenues and overturned. Mrs. Downey suffered a basal fracture of the skull, which may result in her death.

'Master Spy' Case Thrills Hearing to Reveal Secrets Mysterious Letters Figure

COUNT AND COUNTESS VON BERNSTORFF

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The case of Dr. Karl Armgaard Graves, the "Master Spy," under bond since Saturday and charged with attempted blackmail by the Countess Von Bernstorff, today had developed into that ancient problem, "Now that they have got him, what are they to do with him?"

Washington has seldom been so thrilled by a mystery in its own midst and is waiting for Wednesday's hearing with great interest.

A revelation concerning secret service methods of European governments is particularly awaited, since it became known that Ambassador Von Bernstorff notified his government that a sealed package directed to him by the foreign office had been broken open and part of its contents stolen.

SAYS LETTERS IMPORTANT

Graves himself hints that these letters are of the highest importance to the German government and that they are letters which he expected to sell the ambassador and not letters addressed to the Countess Von Bernstorff. As for the latter letters, embassy members are one in saying that they contain nothing calculated to embarrass personally.

Graves stated that one of these letters, from a prominent German woman to the Countess, contains hidden meanings which form an important communication from the home government to the ambassador. He also hinted that they are of no importance but that he will use them as proof that he had other mail which the embassy would be willing to pay for.

U-53 DATA BARED

Graves said that the letters contained information regarding the U-53 on which he says Count Von Bernstorff made a stock market clean up. He avers that Von Bernstorff was thousands richer by reason of advance information on the German submarine venture. He declared that the letters to the Countess are in reality code letters which Count Von Bernstorff could not reveal. He further said that he will relate their contents fully if tried. He declared that the information would be useful to the United States.

FOE SHELLS FUTILE AGAINST GERMANS' UNDERGROUND FORTS

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SOMEWHERE ON THE SOMME Nov. 13.—Germany is defending her lines with buried artillery.

In their assaults the French and British are attacking only the surface of a great fortification.

These defenses are built so close and are dug so deep as to cover a wide area that the allies, today attacking with infantry, "tanks" and artillery are only on the outskirts of a powerful system of underground forts.

The bombardment is terrific.

Fields, woods and towns are torn to pieces by constantly exploding shells.

Underground nothing is being touched.

It is from the subsurface forts that Germany is repelling every attack.

For a week I have been on the Somme battlefield near Peronne.

Our party twice visited the shell area, viewing the destruction.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—General Sir Douglas Haig's forces have struck another terrific blow at the Germans about the Ancre. An oil well crew was going home from work when the flash of a light was seen in the store. Immediately the men aroused neighbors, and about fifteen armed men quickly surrounded the store. The front door was then opened, and the lights were turned on. There was no burglar in sight. No fusilade of bullets met the [illegible]

A search of the place resulted in locating two youths under a table in the warehouse. Their only weapon was an unloaded 22-caliber single-shot revolver, for which they had no cartridges.

Under Sheriff Iman and Deputy Eells went from Santa Ana to La Habra, and returned with the youthful pair. Foster, half-Spanish, said he was in juvenile court in Los Angeles for the robbery of a Jap camp on the Laguna ranch near Los Alamitos. The two boys live at Long Beach, but Goodnight has relatives at La Habra and has been there a good deal.

It developed that the boys had been camping in the neighborhood. They drove a horse to a cart. Foster said that the outfit belongs to his mother.

After the boys were caught last night, an examination of the store showed that they had piled up, evidently to take away, some knives, paint, pencils, belt lacing, cartridges and two flashlights.

The boys deny that they have entered other stores. Goodnight declared that he could prove where he was the night two places were robbed at La Habra about two weeks ago.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—In the fighting on the Somme where legions of men face death daily, narrow escapes from sudden extermination become trifling incidents to be joked about at the end of the day. A sergeant in a Yorkshire regiment declares nothing a man may do seems to affect his chances of becoming a "casualty."

"I've seen careful men get winged before the dare-devils," said the sergeant, "and I've seen the careless men get hit when the cautious one escapes. Recently, one of the men in my platoon was hit in the mouth. The bullet came from an angle, broke one of his teeth and glanced off, just grazing his lip. Ten minutes later, a bullet dented his identity disc and later still a bomb exploded in his pocket, bursting outwards and hardly bruising his side."

Doctors tell of one man in the fighting near Le Sars who went through the experience of having three bombs explode in his pocket without hurting him. A corporal, wearing a steel helmet, was hit by a bullet which went in at the front of the headgear, passed around his head, and went out the back, smashing the steel of the helmet. His head showed no marks.

Three soldiers were standing together when a bomb burst at their feet. A sergeant was blown into the air and badly wounded while the others were unscratched.

SHIP FIRE PERILS 90

BALTIMORE, Nov. 13.—With fire sweeping between her decks the Italian steamer Albania passed up the Patapsco river, sending out wireless calls for help. The fireboat Deluge was sent from here to her assistance. After five hours' work the fire was extinguished. It had burned more than twelve hours, imperiling her crew of ninety men. The Albania is under charter to the Italian government in munition service and was bound here in ballast.

21 HURT IN TWO WRECKS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—Twenty-two persons were injured, one perhaps fatally, in motor accidents in and about Los Angeles. Mrs. Catherine Downey, 77, 626 East Main street, Watts, was a passenger in an automobile driven by her son-in-law, Daniel Sughrue. The machine skidded on a car track at Stephenson and Boyle avenues and overturned. Mrs. Downey suffered a basal fracture of the skull, which may result in her death.

'Master Spy' Case Thrills Hearing to Reveal Secrets

Mysterious Letters Figure

COUNT AND COUNTESS VON BERNSTORFF

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The case of Dr. Karl Armgaard Graves, the "Master Spy," under bond since Saturday and charged with attempted blackmail by the Countess Von Bernstorff, today had developed into that ancient problem, "Now that they have got him, what are they to do with him?"

Washington has seldom been so thrilled by a mystery in its own midst and is waiting for Wednesday's hearing with great interest.

A revelation concerning secret service methods of European governments is particularly awaited, since it became known that Ambassador Von Bernstorff notified his government that a sealed package directed to him by the foreign office had been broken open and part of its contents stolen.

SAYS LETTERS IMPORTANT

Graves himself hints that these letters are of the highest importance to the German government and that they are letters which he expected to sell the ambassador and not letters addressed to the Countess Von Bernstorff. As for the latter letters, embassy members are one in saying that they contain nothing calculated to embarrass personally.

Graves stated that one of these letters, from a prominent German woman to the Countess, contains hidden meanings which form an important communication from the home government to the ambassador. He also hinted that they are of no importance but that he will use them as proof that he had other mail which the embassy would be willing to pay for.

U-53 DATA BARED

Graves said that the letters contained information regarding the U-53 on which he says Count Von Bernstorff made a stock market clean up. He avers that Von Bernstorff was thousands richer by reason of advance information on the German submarine venture. He declared that the letters to the Countess are in reality code letters which Count Von Bernstorff could not reveal. He further said that he will relate their contents fully if tried. He declared that the information would be useful to the United States.

FOE SHELLS FUTILE AGAINST GERMANS' UNDERGROUND FORTS

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SOMEWHERE ON THE SOMME Nov. 13.—Germany is defending her lines with buried artillery.

These defenses are built so close and are dug so deep as to cover a wide area that the allies, today attacking with infantry, "tanks" and artillery are only on the outskirts of a powerful system of underground forts.

The bombardment is terrific.

Fields, woods and towns are torn to pieces by constantly exploding shells.

Underground nothing is being touched.

For a week I have been on the Somme battlefield near Peronne.

Our party twice visited the shell area, viewing the destruction.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—General Sir Douglas Haig's forces have struck another terrific blow at the Germans about the Ancre. After thunderous artillery preparation the infantry took German positions to a depth of a mile, the War Office announced after receiving press dispatches that the British had captured the villages of Beaumont and Hamel, seven miles west of Bapaume.

DECLARE WAY TO PEACE OPENED BY ADDRESS OF HOLLWEG

Berlin Press Comments Blame Sir Edward Grey For War Responsibility

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—The papers treat the speech of Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg in the Reichstag as a document of the utmost importance in throwing light on the responsibility for the war, the character of peace, and the subsequent political status of the world, and of Belgium in particular. What the imperial Chancellor said concerning the Russian imperial order announcing mobilization as equivalent to war against Germany and the Chancellor's own communications to Austria-Hungary are regarded as convincing proofs of the justice of Germany's course in the critical week preceding the breach, but the newspapers generally express regret that these matters were not published earlier.

What Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg has said about Germany's willingness to enter a world union for compelling peace is endorsed generally, except by some Conservative newspapers. The Kreuz Zeitung, however, endorses it. The Vorwaerts points out that in favoring the settling of disputes by arbitration the Chancellor takes up an old Socialist plank, and hopes also that that the Chancellor's speech will tend to disperse the clouds of distrust in enemy countries. The Vorwaerts adds: "In the Chancellor's speech we hear the rustle of the wings of the future, which will bring these horrors to an end."

Comment on Belgium

The imperial Chancellor's remark that he never demanded the annexation of Belgium is generally treated as equivolent to a definite denunciation of annexation. The Kreuz Zeitung says it understands his words in this sense and regrets them along with the other Conservative organs like Die Post, Tages Zeitung and the Tablische Rundschau. These papers also regret that the Chancellor did not define more clearly his position regarding Belgium.

The papers generally say that Viscount Grey, the British Foreign Minister, has been answered effectively. The Lokal Anzeiger says: "Splendidly refuted." The speech is regarded by the papers as the fullest and most convincing statement of the German case yet given.

All the papers state that the Russian mobilization would have been avoided if Great Britain had sued her influence in Petrograd, and that therefore the blame is to be laid on the leading British statesmen. The Lokal Anzeiger says:

Sir Edward Grey Blamed

"To the whole world the name of Edward Grey is known as the chief instrument in the present war. Whoever reads between the lines at Grey's banquet speech and his other utterances will perceive that he accuses others in order to exculpate himself, and that all these attempts merely spring from an evil conscience charged with guilt."

The Tages Zeitung says that under no circumstances can it consider the question of the causes of the war as bearing on the end of the war, since the end will be decided by the military situation. It also expresses regret that the Chancellor's words concerning Belgium may admit of the idea that the Chancellor suggests peace on the basis of the status quo on the west front.

Germania, the Catholic organ, expresses doubt as to Viscount Grey's sincerity on the question of arbitration. It declares that the countries hostile to Germany have for years followed an aggressive policy and have fostered a spirit of "revenge," and, coupled with Russian lust of conquest, they can hardly be considered, therefore, as trustworthy guardians of international peace. Germany, it adds, on the other hand, has kept peace since its foundation, which now enables her to give proof of moral strength in war.

Sees Renunciation

The conservative Kreuz Zeitung reports that Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg apparently uttered a definite renunciation of Belgium, although that country was the starting point of military operations against Germany. It adds:

"As to the Chancellor's attitude towards the question of preservation of peace after the war, we can only endorse it. The first condition for an international policy of peace is that no more aggressive coalitions be formed."

An independent Socialist member of the Reichstag said that especial importance attached to the Chancellor's expression of readiness to participate in attempts to form a coalition which would guarantee peace. He added that Viscount Grey, the British Foreign secretary, never had approved the idea of boycotting Germany to annihilate it, but to the contrary, had declined several times to approve such a project. The Socialist member took exceptions to the ideas of the conservatives in regard to Belgium, and said the Chancellor should make it clear that he was opposed to its annexation.

Favors Arbitration

A member of the annexationist group expressed sympathy with the principle of arbitration, but added that it Germany had accepted in 1914 the result would have been to give time to her enemies, whose plan was not to begin the war until 1916.

A Socialist member took up the question of the Russian mobilization, saying that newspaper reports showed it was in progress before the official Russian date of the beginning of mobilization, and quoting several press dispatches from Petrograd to Paris and London on July 29 and 30, 1914, to prove his assertions.

SAY SPEECH OPENS WAY TO PEACE

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 13.—Several German newspapers, in commenting on Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg's speech, express the opinion that it opens the way for peace. The Tageblatt says the ideas for the future which the Chancellor discussed are more important than the question who is guilty of having caused the war, and refers to the Chancellor's remark that after the war humanity will demand measures to prevent recurrence of such conflicts.

"Whoever is convinced," the paper continues, "that the cry will go through humanity for a peaceful arrangement, will not fail to make preparation for a response to this great cry."

The Friesinnige Zeitung says the Chancellor in all seriousness declares his readiness to collaborate in efforts to obtain international guarantees for lasting peace, adding: "Now is the time for the Entente powers, especially Great Britain, to come forward with a program.

The Vorwaerts, the Socialist organ, says what the German government now desires is tolerably clear; that the Chancellor expressed it in different words than Philipp Scheidemann, a Socialist leader in the Reichstag, who, in a speech last month, asserted the belligerent nations desired peace, but that the views of Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg are no less clear than those of Herr Scheidemann.

Why "An-uric" is an INSURANCE Against Sudden Death!

SUFFERERS FROM BACKACHE, RHEUMATISM AND KIDNEY TROUBLE.

Before an Insurance Company will take a risk on your life the examining physician will test the urine and report whether you are a good risk. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, sick-headache, dizzy spells, or the twinges and pains of lumbago, rheumatism and gout. The urine is often cloudy, full of sediment; channels often get sore, and sleep is disturbed two or three times a night. This is the time you should consult some physician of wide experience—such as Dr. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Send him 10 cents for sample package of his new discovery—"An-uric." Write him your symptoms and send a sample of urine for test. Experience has taught Dr. Pierce that "An-uric" is the most powerful agent in dissolving uric acid, as hot water melts sugar.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF WELL KNOWN MAN

Impressive funeral services for Albert S. Holbrook were held on Friday afternoon at Smith & Tuthill's chapel, which was filled with relatives and friends to pay their last tribute of respect. The bier was surrounded with beautiful floral emplems, including a magnificent wreath from the Colorado Springs banks.

Rev. J. A. Stevenson of the First Presbyterian Church officiated, and Mrs. Margaret Caldwell Gehrett sweetly sang "Face to Face' and "Silently the Evening Shadows," accompanied by Prof. Harry Garstang.

Private interment was had this morning in the new mausoleum in Fairhaven cemetery.

Albert S. Holbrook was born in Townsend, Vt., June 18, 1843, and died in Santa Ana, Cal., Nov. 8, 1916. Mr. Holbrook was married to Miss Ellen B. Johnson of Chester, Vt., in 1868. To them was born one son, Albert S., Jr., who died in Colorado Springs in 1894. Mrs. Holbrook died in Pasadena, Cal., in 1902.

Mr. Holbrook lived an active, energetic life. He made his home for a number of years after leaving Vermont in Boone, Ia., where he was engaged in agriculture. Later he removed to Colorado Springs and was a successful merchant for twenty-three years as a member of the firm of Holbrook & Perkins, and was a director in the Exchange National Bank of Colorado Springs while living in that city and was retained as an honorary member after his removal to Santa Ana. He was a patriotic citizen enlisting in the Sixteenth regiment of Vermont on the 18th of September, 1862, to serve for nine months, and was mustered out at the close of his term of service. His regiment saw severe service in the army of the Potomac and bore a conspicuous part in the Battle of Gettysburg.

He took a keen interest in his church in Boone, Colorado Springs and Santa Ana. He was elected and ordained a ruling elder in the First Presbyterian Church of Santa Ana at the time of his death. He was married to Miss Mary E. McDowell in Colorado Springs in 1903. They have made their home in Santa Ana for the last nine years. His wife and his only brother, Lewis Holbrook, survive him.

HUGHES MISUSED ON CAL. VISIT, SAYS JOHNSON

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—Gov. Hiram W. Johnson, successful candidate for the United States Senatorship on the Republican and Progressive tickets, issued a statement charging that "a few petty politicians," acting in conjunction with certain newspapers "so misused Mr. Hughes and his visit to California that the injury they did we were unable to undo." To this the statement ascribes the Wilson plurality in the state.

"They not only affronted Progressives and ignored Progressive leaders," the statement said, "but in San Francisco, with equal stupidity, they ignored San Francisco's greatest vote-getter and most popular mayor, James Rolph, Jr., and in Los Angeles treated in like fashion the newly-appointed lieutenant-governor, the most popular man there, William D. Stephens, both of whom were registered Republicans.

A greater wrong, the statement said, "was ignoring a state and its record of progressive and humanitarian legislation."

"California citizenship is proud, sensitive, discriminating, independent and educated," the statement said. "No man, no set of men, can deliver it, or any part of it."

Referring to his own large majority as contrasted with Hughes' failure to carry the state, the Governor in his statement noted "the fact that the state of Washington elects Senator Poindexter by an overwhelming majority and decisively goes for Wilson; that Kansas overwhelmingly elected Capper, Republican, governor, and defeats Hughes by a large majority; that Minnesota elects a Republican governor and Kellogg, Republican, United States senator, and yet presents a vote similar to ours upon the presidency. In our own state in the Congress district which went heaviest for Wilson, Congresman Curry, Republican, wins by five to one, being unopposed, and in San Francisco, where Wilson received his largest majority, Kahn, Republican for Congress, wins by five to one.'

The statement says the senatorial contest really was ended August 29 and that thereafter the Governor campaigned California for Hughes.

William H. Crocker, Republican national committeeman, and Francis V. Keesling, former chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, are named as "having made it appear that Mr. Hughes was entirely reactionary, and that he was neither in accord with nor sympathetic with Californai's progress and achievement."

Mr. Crocker, after reading a portion of the statement, said: "I prefer to maintain a dignified silence."

DECLARE WAY TO PEACE OPENED BY ADDRESS OF HOLLWEG

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—The papers treat the speech of Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg in the Reichstag as a document of the utmost importance in throwing light on the responsibility for the war, the character of peace, and the subsequent political status of the world, and of Belgium in particular. What the imperial Chancellor said concerning the Russian imperial order announcing mobilization as equivalent to war against Germany and the Chancellor's own communications to Austria-Hungary are regarded as convincing proofs of the justice of Germany's course in the critical week preceding the breach, but the newspapers generally express regret that these matters were not published earlier.

What Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg has said about Germany's willingness to enter a world union for compelling peace is endorsed generally, except by some Conservative newspapers. The Kreuz Zeitung, however, endorses it. The Vorwaerts points out that in favoring the settling of disputes by arbitration the Chancellor takes up an old Socialist plank, and hopes also that that the Chancellor's speech will tend to disperse the clouds of distrust in enemy countries. The Vorwaerts adds: "In the Chancellor's speech we hear the rustle of the wings of the future, which will bring these horrors to an end."

Comment on Belgium

The imperial Chancellor's remark that he never demanded the annexation of Belgium is generally treated as equivolent to a definite denunciation of annexation. The Kreuz Zeitung says it understands his words in this sense and regrets them along with the other Conservative organs like Die Post, Tages Zeitung and the Tablische Rundschau. These papers also regret that the Chancellor did not define more clearly his position regarding Belgium.

The papers generally say that Viscount Grey, the British Foreign Minister, has been answered effectively. The Lokal Anzeiger says: "Splendidly refuted." The speech is regarded by the papers as the fullest and most convincing statement of the German case yet given.

All the papers state that the Russian mobilization would have been avoided if Great Britain had sued her influence in Petrograd, and that therefore the blame is to be laid on the leading British statesmen. The Lokal Anzeiger says:

Sir Edward Grey Blamed

"To the whole world the name of Edward Grey is known as the chief instrument in the present war. Whoever reads between the lines at Grey's banquet speech and his other utterances will perceive that he accuses others in order to exculpate himself, and that all these attempts merely spring from an evil conscience charged with guilt."

The Tages Zeitung says that under no circumstances can it consider the question of the causes of the war as bearing on the end of the war, since the end will be decided by the military situation. It also expresses regret that the Chancellor's words concerning Belgium may admit of the idea that the Chancellor suggests peace on the basis of the status quo on the west front.

Germania, the Catholic organ, expresses doubt as to Viscount Grey's sincerity on the question of arbitration. It declares that the countries hostile to Germany have for years followed an aggressive policy and have fostered a spirit of "revenge," and, coupled with Russian lust of conquest, they can hardly be considered, therefore, as trustworthy guardians of international peace. Germany, it adds, on the other hand, has kept peace since its foundation, which now enables her to give proof of moral strength in war.

Sees Renunciation

The conservative Kreuz Zeitung reports that Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg apparently uttered a definite renunciation of Belgium, although that country was the starting point of military operations against Germany. It adds:

"As to the Chancellor's attitude towards the question of preservation of peace after the war, we can only endorse it. The first condition for an international policy of peace is that no more aggressive coalitions be formed."

An independent Socialist member of the Reichstag said that especial importance attached to the Chancellor's expression of readiness to participate in attempts to form a coalition which would guarantee peace. He added that Viscount Grey, the British Foreign secretary, never had approved the idea of boycotting Germany to annihilate it, but to the contrary, had declined several times to approve such a project. The Socialist member took exceptions to the ideas of the conservatives in regard to Belgium, and said the Chancellor should make it clear that he was opposed to its annexation.

Favors Arbitration

A member of the annexationist group expressed sympathy with the principle of arbitration, but added that if Germany had accepted in 1914 the result would have been to give time to her enemies, whose plan was not to begin the war until 1916.

A Socialist member took up the question of the Russian mobilization, saying that newspaper reports showed it was in progress before the official Russian date of the beginning of mobilization, and quoting several press dispatches from Petrograd to Paris and London on July 29 and 30, 1914, to prove his assertions.

SAY SPEECH OPENS WAY TO PEACE

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 13.—Several German newspapers, in commenting on Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg's speech, express the opinion that it opens the way for peace. The Tageblatt says the ideas for the future which the Chancellor discussed are more important than the question who is guilty of having caused the war, and refers to the Chancellor's remark that after the war humanity will demand measures to prevent recurrence of such conflicts.

"Whoever is convinced," the paper continues, "that the cry will go through humanity for a peaceful arrangement, will not fail to make preparation for a response to this great cry."

The Friesinnige Zeitung says the Chancellor in all seriousness declares his readiness to collaborate in efforts to obtain international guarantees for lasting peace, adding: "Now is the time for the Entente powers, especially Great Britain, to come forward with a program.

The Vorwaerts, the Socialist organ, says what the German government now desires is tolerably clear; that the Chancellor expressed it in different words than Philipp Scheidemann, a Socialist leader in the Reichstag, who, in a speech last month, asserted the belligerent nations desired peace, but that the views of Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg are no less clear than those of Herr Scheidemann.

MANY FOLKS IN OUR HOME STATE TESTIFY.

San Francisco, Cal.—"I am very glad of the chance to tell how much good 'Golden Medical Discovery' has done for me. For a long time I suffered from indigestion and a bad case of catarrh. I tried a great many so-called 'remedies' but none of them did me a particle of good. I finally tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and was glad to feel an improvement right away. I have taken five bottles altogether and I have not a trace of indigestion or catarrh at all now."—MRS. A. GEORGE, 1322 Leavenworth St.

Why "An-uric" is an INSURANCE Against Sudden Death!

SUFFERERS FROM BACKACHE, RHEUMATISM AND KIDNEY TROUBLE.

Before an Insurance Company will take a risk on your life the examining physician will test the urine and report whether you are a good risk. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, sick-headache, dizzy spells, or the twinges and pains of lumbago, rheumatism and gout. The urine is often cloudy, full of sediment; channels often get sore, and sleep is disturbed two or three times a night. This is the time you should consult some physician of wide experience—such as Dr. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Send him 10 cents for sample package of his new discovery—"An-uric." Write him your symptoms and send a sample of urine for test. Experience has taught Dr. Pierce that "An-uric" is the most powerful agent in dissolving uric acid, as hot water melts sugar.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF WELL KNOWN MAN

Impressive funeral services for Albert S. Holbrook were held on Friday afternoon at Smith & Tuthill's chapel, which was filled with relatives and friends to pay their last tribute of respect. The bier was surrounded with beautiful floral emplems, including a magnificent wreath from the Colorado Springs banks.

Rev. J. A. Stevenson of the First Presbyterian Church officiated, and Mrs. Margaret Caldwell Gehrett sweetly sang "Face to Face' and "Silently the Evening Shadows," accompanied by Prof. Harry Garstang.

Private interment was had this morning in the new mausoleum in Fairhaven cemetery.

Albert S. Holbrook was born in Townsend, Vt., June 18, 1843, and died in Santa Ana, Cal., Nov. 8, 1916. Mr. Holbrook was married to Miss Ellen B. Johnson of Chester, Vt., in 1868. To them was born one son, Albert S., Jr., who died in Colorado Springs in 1894. Mrs. Holbrook died in Pasadena, Cal., in 1902.

Mr. Holbrook lived an active, energetic life. He made his home for a number of years after leaving Vermont in Boone, Ia., where he was engaged in agriculture. Later he removed to Colorado Springs and was a successful merchant for twenty-three years as a member of the firm of Holbrook & Perkins, and was a director in the Exchange National Bank of Colorado Springs while living in that city and was retained as an honorary member after his removal to Santa Ana. He was a patriotic citizen enlisting in the Sixteenth regiment of Vermont on the 18th of September, 1862, to serve for nine months, and was mustered out at the close of his term of service. His regiment saw severe service in the army of the Potomac and bore a conspicuous part in the Battle of Gettysburg.

He took a keen interest in his church in Boone, Colorado Springs and Santa Ana. He was elected and ordained a ruling elder in the First Presbyterian Church of Santa Ana at the time of his death. He was married to Miss Mary E. McDowell in Colorado Springs in 1903. They have made their home in Santa Ana for the last nine years. His wife and his only brother, Lewis Holbrook, survive him.

HUGHES MISUSED ON CAL. VISIT, SAYS JOHNSON

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—Gov. Hiram W. Johnson, successful candidate for the United States Senatorship on the Republican and Progressive tickets, issued a statement charging that "a few petty politicians," acting in conjunction with certain newspapers "so misused Mr. Hughes and his visit to California that the injury they did we were unable to undo." To this the statement ascribes the Wilson plurality in the state.

"They not only affronted Progressives and ignored Progressive leaders," the statement said, "but in San Francisco, with equal stupidity, they ignored San Francisco's greatest vote-getter and most popular mayor, James Rolph, Jr., and in Los Angeles treated in like fashion the newly-appointed lieutenant-governor, the most popular man there, William D. Stephens, both of whom were registered Republicans.

A greater wrong, the statement said, "was ignoring a state and its record of progressive and humanitarian legislation."

"California citizenship is proud, sensitive, discriminating, independent and educated," the statement said. "No man, no set of men, can deliver it, or any part of it."

Referring to his own large majority as contrasted with Hughes' failure to carry the state, the Governor in his statement noted "the fact that the state of Washington elects Senator Poindexter by an overwhelming majority and decisively goes for Wilson; that Kansas overwhelmingly elected Capper, Republican, governor, and defeats Hughes by a large majority; that Minnesota elects a Republican governor and Kellogg, Republican, United States senator, and yet presents a vote similar to ours upon the presidency. In our own state in the Congress district which went heaviest for Wilson, Congresman Curry, Republican, wins by five to one, being unopposed, and in San Francisco, where Wilson received his largest majority, Kahn, Republican for Congress, wins by five to one.'

The statement says the senatorial contest really was ended August 29 and that thereafter the Governor campaigned California for Hughes.

William H. Crocker, Republican national committeeman, and Francis V. Keesling, former chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, are named as "having made it appear that Mr. Hughes was entirely reactionary, and that he was neither in accord with nor sympathetic with California's progress and achievement."

Mr. Crocker, after reading a portion of the statement, said: "I prefer to maintain a dignified silence."

HOME SOLDIERS WELCOMED BY POPULACE ON RETURN

Representatives of Civic and City Bodies Join In Greeting Members of Co. L

That the residents of Santa Ana have a warm spot in their hearts for the boys of Company L was fully demonstrated Saturday night when the company returned home from Los Angeles after being mustered out of the federal service.

Between 2500 and 3000 people were at the Southern Pacific depot to greet the company upon its arrival at 6:40. Representatives of civic, social and city bodies were there to extend an official welcome to the returned soldiers, and Hon. Clyde Bishop in a brief address offered a welcome in behalf of the populace, complimenting the boys on the patriotic spirit they displayed when they left here five months ago for what at that time seemed would be active service in defense of national honor.

Outpouring of Citizens

The rousing reception by their home people in a measure compensated the boys for the long hours of hardships and privations they endured on the desert lands on the border.

The Elks' band was on hand and when the train rolled into the depot it struck up a lively tune and cheer after cheer went up when the boys commenced to file out of their special car.

The company was formed on Fourth street facing south, and Clyde Bishop delivered his address of welcome from an automobile standing on the south side of Fourth near the depot.

Enthusiastic Cheers

Headed by the band the company marched uptown followed in machines by representatives of the G. A. R., W. R. C., Home Guards, Daughters of Veterans, M. and M., Chamber of Commerce and City Trustees, and hundreds of citizens. Fourth street was lined with people from the depot to the Armory and the returning soldier boys were cheered in every block as they passed en route to their headquarters. Arriving at the Armory they checked in their equipment and disbanded to greet relatives and friends.

Company L left here on June 25, being absent from town exactly five months and twenty-two days. It was mustered out of service Saturday forenoon about 11 o'clock and the boys lay around camp the rest of the day anxiously awaiting the hour of their departure for home.

Boys Get $3000 in Cash

The boys of the company received a total of about $3000 in the final settlement with the government, the individual members receiving from $30 to $75 each.

Former Captain McBride and Sergeant Stearns joined the company at Anaheim and when McBride stepped into the car he was given an enthusiastic reception. The members have a very high regard for their former captain. McBride met the company with the flag given it before its departure.

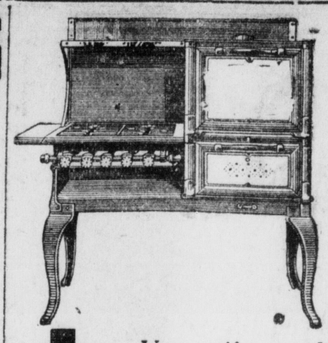

The members will be guests at a

Banquet Tomorrow Night

banquet to be given at Odd Fellows' banquet room tomorrow night. It will be a chicken supper, the arrangements for which are in the hands of Mrs. W. Q. Fipps, Mrs. R. C. Pease and Mrs. F. H. Teel, who have sons in the company. Each member will be permitted to invite one relative or friend, and in addition there will be representatives of the press, ex-Captain McBride, ex-Colonel S. H. Finley, A. S. Ralph, representatives of the City Council, M. & M., Chamber of Commerce, G. A. R., W. R. C., Ministerial Union, Spanish War Veterans, Daughters of Veterans and Sons of Veterans.

Meztgar Was Busy

J. C. Metzgar was a busy man Monday. During the day he made the arrangements for the reception and the large crowd in attendance and the program carried out was the result of fast and efficient work, as the notice of the hour when the boys would return was short.

JUNIOR COLLEGE SCORES 70 TO 0 IN FRAY WITH HOLLYWOOD

Locals Take Turns Scampering Across Field For Touchdowns

"Who will be willing to make the next touchdown?" was the question uppermost in the minds of the Junior College football aggregation last Saturday when they romped over the Hollywood Junior College to the tune of 71 to 0 on the Poly field.

A fair crowd was out to witness the slaughter and those out could not complain, as only two cents a touchdown was charged for admission. After everyone had made a few touchdowns the idea got old and the trouble was then to get someone who would run the length of the field to place the ball behind the line.

Ten or twelve 50-yard runs a quarter is not the easiest thing on this earth. The local backfield was one of the fastest ever seen in this town. It was composed of "Ham" Hamaker, "Eggs" McVay, Bernard Packard and "Bacon" Burge. This backfield could run away from the opponents with ease and scamper down the field for a touchdown. Everyone had a chance to try his luck for a goal after a touchdown, but the successful ones were few and far between, Hamaker being the luckiest of them at this phase of the afternoon's caper.

The visitors had two rather active players and nine ornamental ones. One of these nine was the chap who held down left guard. Yes, he held it down fine, but that was as far as he got with it. Nature provided him with the necessary avoirdupois to hold down anything. Along in the middle of the game he was trying to advance position, avoirdupois and all, someone tappen him on the nasal extremity and he retired, a total wreck. On being interviewed he said this was the most vigorous lot of players he had ever played against.

The game progressed nicely until toward the end, when the active fullback planted the end of his toe squarely on the top of Birge's cranium, at which Burge threatened to slap him on the wrist or hurl a chocolate cream at him, but with the endeavors of Referee "Monty" McFadden peace was restored and the game went along to the finish without any other serious difficulty except that "Ham" Hamaker was hoodwinked in some way or other into giving the team a feed for the loyal backing given him.

The line-up was as follows:

UNITED STATES LOSES HALIBUT INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. — "Canada has captured the great halibut fishing industry of Alaska and the Pacific Coast. The headquarters of this big American business has been transferred to Prince Rupert, B. C.," said Representative Albert Johnson of Washington today. He has just returned from a two weeks' trip to Alaska. He continued:

"During the passage of the Democratic revenue bill at the last session of Congress a strenuous effort was made to insert a clause which would protect the fishing industry. But this effort failed because high Canadian officials appeared in Washington and threatened reprisals. Prince Rupert pays fishermen more for their halibut because the government-owned railroad can absorb the difference; the United States treasury loses the revenue; the American public pays more for its fish and the Alaska industry is doomed, all because of the Underwood law and the lack of White House backbone."

LEADERS CLUB TALK METHODS

Value of Leadership Is Pointed Out In Address By Prof. Hauck

The monthly banquet and meeting of the Orange County Y. M. C. A. Leaders Club was held Saturday evening at the First Christian Church in Orange. The banquet which was put on by the Young People's Society of that church was particularly well handled. Nearly all of the twenty-five clubs now organized in the county were represented at the banquet.

Prof. Hauck, principal of the Fullerton High School and Junior College, gave the main address of the evening on "Leadership." He emphasized the fact that the leader is a little ahead of the crowd, that the costs of leadership are great but that the rewards are even greater though often the payments may be deferred for years. Prof. Prince, principal of the Anaheim high school, as president of the Leaders' Club took charge of the business session. To better fit themselves for the leadership of the boys' groups the leaders decided to take up a study of a definite course on leadership. "The leadership of Bible Study Groups" by Prof. Horne of N. Y. University. At least six months will be taken up with the study of this course.

Secretary Cole reported on the healthy progress of the work over the county. He congratulated the men upon the good clubs they were developing and outlined plans for future work. Special emphasis was laid upon the coming Older Boys' Conference to be held during the Thanksgiving week in Pasadena. He reported that Pasadent had invited the boys of Southern California to come for the three days, Dec. 1, 2, 3, to be her guests, and stated that Orange county had been given the opportunity of taking fifty picked boys to the affair. Because of the desirability of the trip the process of "picking" became a topic of discussion and it was decided to allow up to five boys from each club, the privilege of going and since there are about nineteen H. S. clubs the first fifty boys to send in their registration fee of $1.00 will be taken on this free trip.

Best methods of conducting a class were discussed and a special committ- Prince, Martin Warren, Prof. Warren, Archie Raitt and Fred Kelley was appointed to report on the best games to use before and after the study periods. The next meeting will be held Dec. 9, in Santa Ana, probably at the First Presbyterian Church.

Those members present were: Prof. Priche, Martin Warren, Prof. Warren, Prof. Kelley, Archie Raitt, Rev. Spicer, Will Speers, Sherman Gilogly, A. B. Crane, Eugene Griset, Niel Miles, Will Armstrong, W. A. Jones, Prof. G. W. Henry, Rev. Hall, Prof. C. E. Teach, Dayton Ditchie, Prof. Hauck, Chas. Pearson, Harold Goocale, C. Van Vuren, and R. G. TOMATOES ARE GROWN UPON POTATO STALK

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 8.—Eleven fully matured tomatoes and as many life-sized potatoes growing on a single plant in the vegetable gardens of the Pennsylvania State College marks the advent of the newest of freak plants in the vegetable world.

The experiment was conceived and carried to completion by C. E. Myers, professor of experimental vegetable growing at the college. A potato was planted and on the stalk produced there was grafted a young tomato shoot. The union was protected with wax and bound with raffia as is done in the ordinary grafting of fruit trees. A luxuriant growth of vine was produced. On the vine there were many tomato blossoms and these developed into normal tomatoes. Underground at the same time the potatoes thrived as if they were growing under the stimulus of their own vine.

HOME SOLDIERS WELCOMED BY POPULACE ON RETURN

Representatives of Civic and City Bodies Join In Greeting Members of Co. L

That the residents of Santa Ana have a warm spot in their hearts for the boys of Company L was fully demonstrated Saturday night when the company returned home from Los Angeles after being mustered out of the federal service.

Between 2500 and 3000 people were at the Southern Pacific depot to greet the company upon its arrival at 6:40. Representatives of civic, social and city bodies were there to extend an official welcome to the returned soldiers, and Hon. Clyde Bishop in a brief address offered a welcome in behalf of the populace, complimenting the boys on the patriotic spirit they displayed when they left here five months ago for what at that time seemed would be active service in defense of national honor.

Outpouring of Citizens

The rousing reception by their home people in a measure compensated the boys for the long hours of hardships and privations they endured on the desert lands on the border.

The Elks' band was on hand and when the train rolled into the depot it struck up a lively tune and cheer after cheer went up when the boys commenced to file out of their special car.

The company was formed on Fourth street facing south, and Clyde Bishop delivered his address of welcome from an automobile standing on the south side of Fourth near the depot.

Enthusiastic Cheers

Headed by the band the company marched uptown followed in machines by representatives of the G. A. R., W. R. C., Home Guards, Daughters of Veterans, M. and M., Chamber of Commerce and City Trustees, and hundreds of citizens. Fourth street was lined with people from the depot to the Armory and the returning soldier boys were cheered in every block as they passed en route to their headquarters. Arriving at the Armory they checked in their equipment and disbanded to greet relatives and friends.

Company L left here on June 25, being absent from town exactly five months and twenty-two days. It was mustered out of service Saturday forenoon about 11 o'clock and the boys lay around camp the rest of the day anxiously awaiting the hour of their departure for home.

Boys Get $3000 in Cash

The boys of the company received a total of about $3000 in the final settlement with the government, the individual members receiving from $30 to $75 each.

Former Captain McBride and Sergeant Stearns joined the company at Anaheim and when McBride stepped into the car he was given an enthusiastic reception. The members have a very high regard for their former captain. McBride met the company with the flag given it before its departure.

The members will be guests at a banquet to be given at Odd Fellows' banquet room tomorrow night. It will be a chicken supper, the arrangements for which are in the hands of Mrs. W. Q. Fipps, Mrs. R. C. Rease and Mrs. F. H. Teel, who have sons in the company. Each member will be permitted to invite one relative or friend, and in addition there will be representatives of the press, ex-Captain McBride, ex-Colonel S. H. Finley, A. S. Ralph, representatives of the City Council, M. & M., Chamber of Commerce, G. A. R., W. R. C., Ministerial Union, Spanish War Veterans, Daughters of Veterans and Sons of Veterans.

Meztgar Was Busy

J. C. Metzgar was a busy man Monday. During the day he made the arrangements for the reception and the large crowd in attendance and the program carried out was the result of fast and efficient work, as the notice of the hour when the boys would return was short.

JUNIOR COLLEGE SCORES 70 TO 0 IN FRAY WITH HOLLYWOOD

Locals Take Turns Scampering Across Field For Touchdowns

"Who will be willing to make the next touchdown?" was the question uppermost in the minds of the Junior College football aggregation last Saturday when they romped over the Hollywood Junior College to the tune of 71 to 0 on the Poly field.

A fair crowd was out to witness the slaughter and those out could not complain, as only two cents a touchdown was charged for admission. After everyone had made a few touchdowns the idea got old and the trouble was then to get someone who would run the length of the field to place the ball behind the line.

Ten or twelve 50-yard runs a quarter is not the easiest thing on this earth. The local backfield was one of the fastest ever seen in this town. It was composed of "Ham" Hamaker, "Eggs" McVay, Bernard Packard and "Bacon" Burge. This backfield could run away from the opponents with ease and scamper down the field for a touchdown. Everyone had a chance to try his luck for a goal after a touchdown, but the successful ones were few and far between, Hamaker being the luckiest of them at this phase of the afternoon's caper.

The visitors had two rather active players and nine ornamental ones. One of these nine was the chap who held down left guard. Yes, he held it down fine, but that was as far as he got with it. Nature provided him with the necessary avoirdupois to hold down anything. Along in the middle of the game he was trying to advance position, avoirdupois and all, someone tappen him on the nasal extremity and he retired, a total wreck. On being interviewed he said this was the most vigorous lot of players he had ever played against.

The game progressed nicely until toward the end, when the active fullback planted the end of his toe squarely on the top of Birge's cranium, at which Burge threatened to slap him on the wrist or hurl a chocolate cream at him, but with the endeavors of Referee "Monty" McFadden peace was restored and the game went along to the finish without any other serious difficulty except that "Ham" Hamaker was hoodwinked in some way or other into giving the team a feed for the loyal backing given him.

The line-up was as follows:

MEXICAN ENVOYS CLASH

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 13—Friction developed between Luis Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican peace delegation, and Alberto J. Pani and Ignacio Bonillas, his fellow envoys. As a result, Pani and Bonillas are expected to ask Carranza to remove Cabrera and invite the American delegates to confer personally with the first chief in Mexico or on the border.

UNITED STATES LOSES HALIBUT INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. — "Canada has captured the great halibut fishing industry of Alaska and the Pacific Coast. The headquarters of this big American business has been transferred to Prince Rupert, B. C.," said Representative Albert Johnson of Washington today. He has just returned from a two weeks' trip to Alaska. He continued:

"During the passage of the Democratic revenue bill at the last session of Congress a strenuous effort was made to insert a clause which would protect the fishing industry. But this effort failed because high Canadian officials appeared in Washington and threatened reprisals. Prince Rupert pays fishermen more for their halibut because the government-owned railroad can absorb the difference; the United States treasury loses the revenue; the American public pays more for its fish and the Alaska industry is doomed, all because of the Underwood law and the lack of White House backbone."

LEADERS CLUB TALK METHODS

Value of Leadership Is Pointed Out In Address By Prof. Hauck

The monthly banquet and meeting of the Orange County Y. M. C. A. Leaders Club was held Saturday evening at the First Christian Church in Orange. The banquet which was put on by the Young People's Society of that church was particularly well handled. Nearly all of the twenty-five clubs now organized in the county were represented at the banquet.

Prof. Hauck, principal of the Fullerton High School and Junior College, gave the main address of the evening on "Leadership." He emphasized the fact that the leader is a little ahead of the crowd, that the costs of leadership are great but that the rewards are even greater though often the payments may be deferred for years. Prof. Prince, principal of the Anaheim high school, as president of the Leaders' Club took charge of the business session. To better fit themselves for the leadership of the boys' groups the leaders decided to take up a study of a definite course on leadership. "The leadership of Bible Study Groups" by Prof. Horne of N. Y. University. At least six months will be taken up with the study of this course.

Secretary Cole reported on the healthy progress of the work over the county. He congratulated the men upon the good clubs they were developing and outlined plans for future work. Special emphasis was laid upon the coming Older Boys' Conference to be held during the Thanksgiving week in Pasadena. He reported that Pasadent had invited the boys of Southern California to come for the three days, Dec. 1, 2, 3, to be her guests, and stated that Orange county had been given the opportunity of taking fifty picked boys to the affair. Because of the desirability of the trip the process of "picking" became a topic of discussion and it was decided to allow up to five boys from each club, the privilege of going and since there are about nineteen H. S. clubs the first fifty boys to send in their registration fee of $1.00 will be taken on this free trip.

Best methods of conducting a class were discussed and a special committee, Prince, Martin Warren, Prof. Warren, Archie Raitt and Fred Kelley was appointed to report on the best games to use before and after the study periods. The next meeting will be held Dec. 9, in Santa Ana, probably at the First Presbyterian Church.

Those members present were: Prof. Pricne, Martin Warren, Prof. Warren, Prof. Kelley, Archie Raitt, Rev. Spicer, Will Speers, Sherman Gilogly, A. B. Crane, Eugene Griset, Niel Miles, Will Armstrong, W. A. Jones, Prof. G. W. Henry, Rev. Hall, Prof. C. E. Teach, Dayton Ditchie, Prof. Hauck, Chas. Pearson, Harold Goocale, C. Van Vuren, and R. G. Cole.

TOMATOES ARE GROWN UPON POTATO STALK

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 8.—Eleven fully matured tomatoes and as many life-sized potatoes growing on a single plant in the vegetable gardens of the Pennsylvania State College marks the advent of the newest of freak plants in the vegetable world.

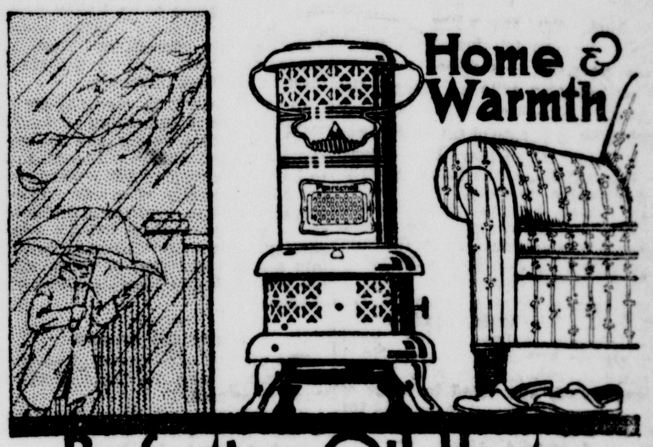

The experiment was conceived and carried to completion by C. E. Myers, professor of experimental vegetable growing at the college. A potato was planted and on the stalk produced there was grafted a young tomato shoot. The union was protected with wax and bound with raffia as is done in the ordinary grafting of fruit trees. A luxuriant growth of vine was produced. On the vine there were many tomato blossoms and these developed into normal tomatoes. Underground at the same time the potatoes thrived as if they were growing under the stimulus of their own vine.

BUT ITS SOUL GOES MARCHING ON

At last the Drys concede the defeat of No. 2—which they might as well have done several days ago—and now we may take stock and count the tremendous gain of prohibition sentiment.

Notwithstanding the tremendous power of money and influence when allied, as exemplified in the acts of the Wets, the realm of their reign is narrowing, and in the recent election California and Missouri were all the states left where the Drys did not score a triumph. Michigan, Nebraska, South Dakota, Montana and Alaska adopted prohibition; in Arkansas, Arizona, Iowa, Oregon, Washington and Idaho firmer prohibition was voted; in Florida a declared prohibitionist was elected governor in competition with a Democrat, and great gains in the dry vote in California were made, notwithstanding the misprepresentations. We can tell just how much when the returns are all in.

At late compilation last night, Amendment No. 2, the liquor restriction initiative measure, was 60,000 votes behind, but the friends of the measure had not conceded its defeat. Whether it is defeated or not, the vote represents a big gain for the Drys over the vote of two years ago.

One source of satisfaction in the vote is the fine showing made in the San Joaquin Valley, which went strongly for both dry measures, No. 1 winning by 9000 and No. 2 by 13,000. Fresno county also voted in favor of the amendments, giving some 4000 for No. 2. This was the answer of a raisin and grape district to the personal interest argument. Whether the voters registered their protest against the attempt to influence their action on a public question by an appeal to their pocket, or whether they registered their opinion of the business merits of such an appeal, the result is equally encouraging.

Either way, it is the raisin and grape district's answer to the pocketbook argument. When the question comes up again—as it will—the San Joaquin Valley's 10,000 majority for dry will be its answer to the gratuitous action of the wets in making a mock appeal to the rest of the state for the poor raisin grower and the poor wine grower. These poor objects of the charity of the wet suffrage have pretty strongly indicated what they think about it.

But, while the raisin and grape grower voted 10,000 against his own supposed economic interest, San Francisco, especially south of Market street came nobly to the aid of the poor San Joaquin Valley grower.

But it appears from the latest figures obtainable that the twelve counties of the San Joaquin Valley, including Amador, though excluding Contra Costa, gave No. 2 a plurality of 1610. The Drys carried Fresno, Kings, Mariposa, Madera, Merced, Stanislaus and Tulare, and the Wets Amador, Calaveras, Kern, Tuolumne and also San Joaquin by a small majority. Fresno, Stanislaus and Tulare counties each gave the Drys for No. 2 more than 4000 plurality. It will be noted that these three counties are among the most advanced agricultural counties in the state and have a large vineyard area.

Incidentally it may be noted that the United States Postoffice Department has sent out a warning to postmasters that in no circumstances may alcoholic liquors be accepted for transmission through the mails. This reminds all of us at the proper time that liquor is an improper commodity to remain in the United States mails, however careless one may become in taking it into the human stomach.

HARD TIMES FOR AUTHORS

One redeeming feature of the short age of paper is that fewer books are being published. Publishers report a decline of 40 per cent. It costs a lot to print anything nowadays. The publishers are not taking so many gambles on doubtful propositions. But it is not likely that any useful book that the world needed has thereby failed to see the light.

The falling off is said to be largely in novels. A stream of fiction has been pouring out of the presses far in excess of any public demand. One wonders who has been buying all this trash. The majority of these volumes live a most ephemeral life. One suspects that nine out of ten don't pay, that the difference is made up by the few startling successes that are sold at every book stall.

The world produces too many books. Many people have the lust of writing who should be doing housework or hoeing corn. They have an itch to express themselves. Words flow freely and they have fertile enough imaginations, so that they can invent stories endlessly. But their creations lack any graces of style or any control over the source of emotion. The only result is a lot of good ink and paper wasted.

If people have this intense desire to write, let them go into newspaper work. There they can scribble to their heart's content. If they have some good ideas, they will make themselves felt in the intensely human contact of newspaper life.

But for many of these budding geniuses, newspaper work seems too routine and humdrum. They are not satisfied merely to write for some local community and limited field. They want to talk to a continent and have their names in the Hall of Fame. While aspiring to high Parnassus, they fall into the ditch at their feet.

With Malice Toward None

By Henry James

The Girl's Good Fairy

It is said of a girl back east that a good fairy seems to have attended her always. From her babyhood up she has had every wish gratified. As to money expended for her there was no limit. For her, all the dreams that girlhood may have, came true. Now she has the crowning joy of wedding a real prince from Italy. This is mentioned in accounts of her as the ultimate happiness this side the pearly gates.

To me it seems that the girl has led a singularly useless and wasted and dreary existence. It is not clear how a life devoid of ambition, and the necessity for effort, could be endurable. Even the capture of an Italian prince is a dubious triumph. Other women have acquired princes, at great expense, and been glad to get rid of them at additional expense.

In this world it is essential for everybody to have something to do. The girl born to vast wealth, and not especially endowed with intelligence, so as to be able to employ her money sanely and beneficially, of course still has some advantages over the girl who has to toil in a sweat-shop, but the sweat-shop girl has some chance to develop into a social equation of value, while the poor rich girl hasn't a ghost of a chance.

Mixing the Seasons

Probably the first of the many merry dances through which this December will be led by his May.

Handsome 'Rah 'Rah Boys

If this were not the case, fewer young fellows could wear their hair combed back, and flattened out, and get away with it.

The Poor Kids

Somebody asks solemnly if parents really are fit to care for children.

Certainly not, unless there is an elderly spinster of pedagogic tendencies and bursting with theories to tell them just how to do it.

But Why "Not?"

Concerning President Wilson's mastery of English there is no question. None but one of the purist pests infesting the fringe of the world of letters could find fault with it.

Therefore it is with open mind that I mention the following introductory phrase from a recent presidential message: "May I not be permitted," etc.

My curiosity is excited as to the reason for the "not." In what manner does it change the sense? Would not "May I be permitted" have conveyed the same sense as well?

Just Like Philadelphia

Commenting on the recent death of Eben E. Rexford the Philadelphia Public Ledger says that it would be unfair to sneer at him now for having written Silver Threads Among the Gold, as that was a sin of his youth.

Certainly it would be unfair, a sufficient explanation of the course of the Public Ledger in sneering.

The song, so slightingly mentioned, has done more good in the world than all that ever appeared in the Public Ledger.

Psychological

Applicants for police positions in San Jose are asked a series of questions beginning with those of a type that a three-year-old child of normal development is supposed to be able to answer.

Probably any applicant who sticks at that stage of the game will get no farther, and yet in New York I have encountered policemen who apparently would have been unable to answer even that sort of a question.

The Fool Driver

On a recent foggy night, when the pavements were wet, the streets crowded with vehicles and any unchained wheel likely to skid, a man drove rapidly around a populous corner. He narrowly missed half a dozen automobiles, skipped ahead of a street car by a margin of six inches, slewed against the curb, but did not stop.

A fleeting glimpse of him showed that he was driving with one hand and that his other arm was about a girl, who grinned up into his vacuous face like a Cheshire cat.

Next morning the papers told of a couple who got wrecked by just such fool driving and had gone to a nice hospital for an indeterminate stay. It is to be hoped it was this same couple. One shudders to think that more than one pair of idiots was loose in that fog.

The Truly Great

As thunders down the ages,
I rise to nominate the same:
The man who works for wages,
Yet beats the "cost-of-living" game—
He skins the whole world's sages.

THE WAR IS ON BETWEEN OTIS AND ROWELL

Yesterday's Fresno Republican states editorially that Harrison Gray Otis, proprietor of the Los Angeles Times, telegraphed broadcast to eastern newspapers charges that Hiram Johnson had betrayed Hughes and delivered the state to Wilson, and that Chester Rowell had misused the campaign funds intrusted to his care. Efforts of the national Republican leaders to induce Otis to keep the peace were unavailing, and the eastern papers began telegraphing for replies to Otis' charges. One example follows:

The New York Times sent the following query:

Chester H. Rowell,
Chairman Republican Committee, San Francisco:

Harrison Gray Otis says: "It was a mistake and wrong for the National Committee to send Chester H. Rowell, the untrue and double-dealing chairman of the State Central Committee, the twenty-five thousand dollars campaign fund, or any other amount. The money was not honestly used." We should be glad to have you wire at once your reply to this charge.

N. Y. TIMES.

Mr. Rowell replied as follows:

Times, New York. The answer to the charge you quote from Harrison Gray Otis is that Harrison Gray Otis is a liar. Here in California where he is known nobody would believe him on oath. The books of the Republican State Committee are open and they show that every cent of the campaign fund was honestly and legitimately expended for the exclusive purposes of the Hughes campaign. Harrison Gray Otis and his newspaper in the pretended interest of regular Republicanism refused to support the regular Republican ticket, openly advocated the Democratic candidate for United States senator and for several legislative offices, opposed one Republican nominee for Congress, refused to print Governor Johnson's speeches for Hughes and now use that omission as a basis of charge that he did not make such speeches, and generally garbled and distorted the news they did print. That they knew their news was garbled I know personally. My newspaper, the Fresno Republican, subscribes for news from the Times News Bureau. They frequently supply us with accurate political news which they garble or suppress in their own paper, showing that they know what the truth is and will tell it to their business associates but will not tell it to the people. The old guard in California, after a conference in Otis' office, has started a campaign to convince the East that Hiram Johnson betrayed Hughes and delivered the state to Wilson. They know the charge is false. California was lost to Hughes when Crocker and Keesling took him prisoner at the state line and reduced him from a presidential candidate to the stalking-horse of their sneaking man-hunt-against Johnson. He did not understand the situation but they did, and they deliberately risked Republican defeat in the nation rather than permit any appearance of recognition of Johnson or of Progressiveism in California. The present Republican state organization has done its best to retrieve the treason and blunders of its predecessors, and Hiram Johnson has made more speeches for Hughes in this campaign than any other man in the United States, but the injury already done was so great that we were not able quite to undo it.

CHESTER H. ROWELL,
Chairman Republican State Committee of California.

The same day, Capt. John D. Fredericks, late defunct Old Guard candidate for governor, publicly charged the Republican State Committee with misusing its funds by spending part of them for Johnson, and asked why the committee had spent so little money for Hughes posters and so much for Johnson posters. The charge would have been to no point, even if true. A Republican State Committee would have been doing only its duty in expending its funds partly for the Republican nominee for the highest office of the state. But the fact was that both the committee and Governor Johnson had stood so straight as to lean backward in this matter, and that NOT ONE CENT of the money at the disposal of the committee had been spent in the interest of the Johnson campaign. ALL the appropriation for posters, for instance, had been spent for Hughes posters, and the committee contributed nothing toward the cost of the Johnson posters. Governor Johnson had gone even further than this. The National Republican Committee, at the request of the National Senatorial Committee, sent ten thousand dollars especially for Governor Johnson's campaign, with instructions, however, that if it was not needed by the Governor it should be available for the general purposes of the committee. At the request of Governor Johnson, this money was turned into the general fund, AND ALL OF IT WAS SPENT FOR THE HUGHES CAMPAIGN. And, to cap the climax, and to show the impudence of Captain Fredericks making the charges, the committee also raised a special fund, from contributors who understood to just what purposes it was to be devoted, TO PAY SEVERAL THOUSAND DOLLARS OF DEFAULTED BILLS OF CAPTAIN FREDERICKS' OWN CAMPAIGN, including large hotel bills and advances for railroad fare, and thereby restored the solvency and credit of the Republican state organization.

Here's Speedy Relief from Kidney Troubles

Some days it seems as if you can no longer bear the pain and misery you suffer from kidney and bladder trouble. The ache across your back grows worse with every move you make, and with every step you take. It not only robs you of all your strength and energy, but it affects the other important organs of the body as well. Nervousness, headache, disordered stomach, liver trouble, bad eyesight, are only some of the conditions that follow kidney trouble.

Foley Kidney Pills help the sick weak kidneys to regain their normal healthy state and activity. When they are again able to do their work effectively, your system is no longer choked and blocked with poisonous waste matter. Your symptoms clear up, your weariness, pain, misery and weakness go away. Foley Kidney Pills can do you also "a heap of good."

FREE AIR SIGN BLOWN THROUGH SHOW WINDOW

It cost the Ford Sales and Service Company about $150 today for the information it has been giving to the traveling public that free air is available at its garage.

A post set in the sidewalk and bearing the free-air sign was blown over by the wind and fell against the glass front, breaking two panes of glass which it is estimated will cost between $125 and $150 to replace.

A strong gust of wind caught the sign about 8 o'clock and the post crashed into the window.

Does it show that Mr. Hughes was sold out if he was unable to win Sacramento county from Mr. Wilson when Mr. Johnson was not able to do it in 1912?

Mr. Wilson in 1912 had a vote in the United States of nearly 1,400,000 less than the vote of Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt combined. This was with a total of less than 14,000,000 votes for the three candidates. With a total popular vote of 16,500,000 votes for the candidates of the two parties this year Mr. Hughes with a proportional increase should have polled 9,000,000 votes and Mr. Wilson should have had 7,500,000 votes. The returns show that in the popular vote Mr. Wilson gained 1,000,000 of the Hughes votes over the number that Mr. Hughes gained from Wilson. The "boobs" are not all in California. The fact is that in no other state does the vote show less variation than is shown in this state.

Two years ago the vote for senator shows that Mr. Heney and Mr. Knowland had a plurality over Mr. Phelan of 230,000 votes. If Mr. Johnson got the strict party votes of these two parties (Republican and Progressive) according to the vote of 1914 with the proportional increase he should have beaten Mr. Patton over 280,000 votes. Add to this the prestige of Mr. Johnson being well known and Mr. Patton being politically unknown and a plurality of 300,000 does not show Mr. Johnson gained too many votes by his prestige. In 1914 the vote for governor gives Mr. Johnson and Mr. Fredericks 613,000 over Mr. Curtain, Democrat. Returns for 1916 show that Mr. Johnson did not get but 2 in 5 of the Republican votes cast for governor in 1914.

BUT ITS SOUL GOES MARCHING ON

At last the Drys concede the defeat of No. 2—which they might as well have done several days ago—and now we may take stock and count the tremendous gain of prohibition sentiment.

Notwithstanding the tremendous power of money and influence when allied, as exemplified in the acts of the Wets, the realm of their reign is narrowing, and in the recent election California and Missouri were all the states left where the Drys did not score a triumph. Michigan, Nebraska, South Dakota, Montana and Alaska adopted prohibition; in Arkansas, Arizona, Iowa, Oregon, Washington and Idaho firmer prohibition was voted; in Florida a declared prohibitionist was elected governor in competition with a Democrat, and great gains in the dry vote in California were made, notwithstanding the misprepresentations. We can tell just how much when the returns are all in.

At late compilation last night, Amendment No. 2, the liquor restriction initiative measure, was 60,000 votes behind, but the friends of the measure had not conceded its defeat. Whether it is defeated or not, the vote represents a big gain for the Drys over the vote of two years ago.

One source of satisfaction in the vote is the fine showing made in the San Joaquin Valley, which went strongly for both dry measures, No. 1 winning by 9000 and No. 2 by 13,000. Fresno county also voted in favor of the amendments, giving some 4000 for No. 2. This was the answer of a raisin and grape district to the personal interest argument. Whether the voters registered their protest against the attempt to influence their action on a public question by an appeal to their pocket, or whether they registered their opinion of the business merits of such an appeal, the result is equally encouraging.

Either way, it is the raisin and grape district's answer to the pocketbook argument. When the question comes up again—as it will—the San Joaquin Valley's 10,000 majority for dry will be its answer to the gratuitous action of the wets in making a mock appeal to the rest of the state for the poor raisin grower and the poor wine grower. These poor objects of the charity of the wet suffrage have pretty strongly indicated what they think about it.

But, while the raisin and grape grower voted 10,000 against his own supposed economic interest, San Francisco, especially south of Market street came nobly to the aid of the poor San Joaquin Valley grower.

But it appears from the latest figures obtainable that the twelve counties of the San Joaquin Valley, including Amador, though excluding Contra Costa, gave No. 2 a plurality of 1610. The Drys carried Fresno, Kings, Mariposa, Madera, Merced, Stanislaus and Tulare, and the Wets Amador, Calaveras, Kern, Tuolumne and also San Joaquin by a small majority. Fresno Stanislaus and Tulare counties each gave the Drys for No. 2 more than 4000 plurality. It will be noted that these three counties are among the most advanced agricultural counties in the state and have a large vineyard area.

Incidentally it may be noted that the United States Postoffice Department has sent out a warning to postmasters that in no circumstances may alcoholic liquors be accepted for transmission through the mails. This reminds all of us at the proper time that liquor is an improper commodity to remain in the United States mails, however careless one may become in taking it into the human stomach.

HARD TIMES FOR AUTHORS

One redeeming feature of the shortage of paper is that fewer books are being published. Publishers report a decline of 40 per cent. It costs a lot to print anything nowadays. The publishers are not taking so many gambles on doubtful propositions. But it is not likely that any useful book that the world needed has thereby failed to see the light.

The falling off is said to be largely in novels. A stream of fiction has been pouring out of the presses far in excess of any public demand. One wonders who has been buying all this trash. The majority of these volumes live a most ephemeral life. One suspects that nine out of ten don't pay, that the difference is made up by the few startling successes that are sold at every book stall.

The world produces too many books. Many people have the lust of writing who should be doing housework or hoeing corn. They have an itch to express themselves. Words flow freely and they have fertile enough imaginations, so that they can invent stories endlessly. But their creations lack any graces of style or any control over the source of emotion. The only result is a lot of good ink and paper wasted.

If people have this intense desire to write, let them go into newspaper work. There they can scribble to their heart's content. If they have some good ideas, they will make themselves felt in the intensely human contact of newspaper life.

But for many of these budding geniuses, newspaper work seems too routine and humdrum. They are not satisfied merely to write for some local community and limited field. They want to talk to a continent and have their names in the Hall of Fame. While aspiring to high Parnassus, they fall into the ditch at their feet.

With Malice Toward None

By Henry James

The Girl's Good Fairy

It is said of a girl back east that a good fairy seems to have attended her always. From her babyhood up she has had every wish gratified. As to money expended for her there was no limit. For her, all the dreams that girlhood may have, came true. Now she has the crowning joy of wedding a real prince from Italy. This is mentioned in accounts of her as the ultimate happiness this side the pearly gates.

To me it seems that the girl has led a singularly useless and wasted and dreary existence. It is not clear how a life devoid of ambition, and the necessity for effort, could be endurable. Even the capture of an Italian prince is a dubious triumph. Other women have acquired princes, at great expense, and been glad to get rid of them at additional expense.

In this world it is essential for everybody to have something to do. The girl born to vast wealth, and not especially endowed with intelligence, so as to be able to employ her money sanely and beneficially, of course still has some advantages over the girl who has to toil in a sweat-shop, but the sweat-shop girl has some chance to develop into a social equation of value, while the poor rich girl hasn't a ghost of a chance.

Mixing the Seasons

Probably the first of the many merry dances through which this December will be led by his May.

Handsome 'Rah 'Rah Boys

If this were not the case, fewer young fellows could wear their hair combed back, and flattened out, and get away with it.

The Poor Kids

Somebody asks solemnly if parents really are fit to care for children.

Certainly not, unless there is an elderly spinster of pedagogic tendencies and bursting with theories to tell them just how to do it.

But Why "Not?"

Concerning President Wilson's mastery of English there is no question. None but one of the purist pests infesting the fringe of the world of letters could find fault with it.

Therefore it is with open mind that I mention the following introductory phrase from a recent presidential message: "May I not be permitted," etc.

My curiosity is excited as to the reason for the "not." In what manner does it change the sense? Would not "May I be permitted" have conveyed the same sense as well?

Just Like Philadelphia

Commenting on the recent death of Eben E. Rexford the Philadelphia Public Ledger says that it would be unfair to sneer at him now for having written Silver Threads Among the Gold, as that was a sin of his youth.

Certainly it would be unfair, a sufficient explanation of the course of the Public Ledger in sneering.

The song, so slightingly mentioned, has done more good in the world than all that ever appeared in the Public Ledger.

Psychological

Applicants for police positions in San Jose are asked a series of questions beginning with those of a type that a three-year-old child of normal development is supposed to be able to answer.

Probably any applicant who sticks at that stage of the game will get no farther, and yet in New York I have encountered policemen who apparently would have been unable to answer even that sort of a question.

The Fool Driver

On a recent foggy night, when the pavements were wet, the streets crowded with vehicles and any unchained wheel likely to skid, a man drove rapidly around a populous corner. He narrowly missed half a dozen automobiles, skipped ahead of a street car by a margin of six inches, slewed against the curb, but did not stop.

A fleeting glimpse of him showed that he was driving with one hand and that his other arm was about a girl, who grinned up into his vacuous face like a Cheshire cat.

Next morning the papers told of a couple who got wrecked by just such fool driving and had gone to a nice hospital for an indeterminate stay. It is to be hoped it was this same couple. One shudders to think that more than one pair of idiots was loose in that fog.

The Truly Great

If any man deserves such fame
As thunders down the ages,
I rise to nominate the same:
The man who works for wages,
Yet beats the "cost-of-living" game—
He skins the whole world's sages.

THE WAR IS ON BETWEEN OTIS AND ROWELL

Yesterday's Fresno Republican states editorially that Harrison Gray Otis, proprietor of the Los Angeles Times, telegraphed broadcast to eastern newspapers charges that Hiram Johnson had betrayed Hughes and delivered the state to Wilson, and that Chester Rowell had misused the campaign funds intrusted to his care. Efforts of the national Republican leaders to induce Otis to keep the peace were unavailing, and the eastern papers began telegraphing for replies to Otis' charges. One example follows:

The New York Times sent the following query:

Chester H. Rowell,
Chairman Republican Committee, San Francisco:

Harrison Gray Otis says: "It was a mistake and wrong for the National Committee to send Chester H. Rowell, the untrue and double-dealing chairman of the State Central Committee, the twenty-five thousand dollars campaign fund, or any other amount. The money was not honestly used." We should be glad to have you wire at once your reply to this charge.

N. Y. TIMES.

Mr. Rowell replied as follows:

Times, New York. The answer to the charge you quote from Harrison Gray Otis is that Harrison Gray Otis is a liar. Here in California where he is known nobody would believe him on oath. The books of the Republican State Committee are open and they show that every cent of the campaign fund was honestly and legitimately expended for the exclusive purposes of the Hughes campaign. Harrison Gray Otis and his newspaper in the pretended interest of regular Republicanism refused to support the regular Republican ticket, openly advocated the Democratic candidate for United States senator and for several legislative offices, opposed one Republican nominee for Congress, refused to print Governor Johnson's speeches for Hughes and now use that omission as a basis of charge that he did not make such speeches, and generally garbled and distorted the news they did print. That they knew their news was garbled I know personally. My newspaper, the Fresno Republican, subscribes for news from the Times News Bureau. They frequently supply us with accurate political news which they garble or suppress in their own paper, showing that they know what the truth is and will tell it to their business associates but will not tell it to the people. The old guard in California, after a conference in Otis' office, has started a campaign to convince the East that Hiram Johnson betrayed Hughes and delivered the state to Wilson. They know the charge is false. California was lost to Hughes when Crocker and Keesling took him prisoner at the state line and reduced him from a presidential candidate to the stalking-horse of their sneaking man-hunt against Johnson. He did not understand the situation but they did, and they deliberately risked Republican defeat in the nation rather than permit any appearance of recognition of Johnson or of Progressiveism in California. The present Republican state organization has done its best to retrieve the treason and blunders of its predecessors, and Hiram Johnson has made more speeches for Hughes in this campaign than any other man in the United States, but the injury already done was so great that we were not able quite to undo it.

CHESTER H. ROWELL,
Chairman Republican State Committee of California.

The Republican continues, editorially, as follows:

The same day, Capt. John D. Fredericks, late defunct Old Guard candidate for governor, publicly charged the Republican State Committee with misusing its funds by spending part of them for Johnson, and asked why the committee had spent so little money for Hughes posters and so much for Johnson posters. The charge would have been to no point, even if true. A Republican State Committee would have been doing only its duty in expending its funds partly for the Republican nominee for the highest office of the state. But the fact was that both the committee and Governor Johnson had stood so straight as to lean backward in this matter, and that NOT ONE CENT of the money at the disposal of the committee had been spent in the interest of the Johnson campaign. ALL the appropriation for posters, for instance, had been spent for Hughes posters, and the committee contributed nothing toward the cost of the Johnson posters. Governor Johnson had gone even further than this. The National Republican Committee, at the request of the National Senatorial Committee, sent ten thousand dollars especially for Governor Johnson's campaign, with instructions, however, that if it was not needed by the Governor it should be available for the general purposes of the committee. At the request of Governor Johnson, this money was turned into the general fund, AND ALL OF IT WAS SPENT FOR THE HUGHES CAMPAIGN. And, to cap the climax, and to show the impudence of Captain Fredericks making the charges, the committee also raised a special fund, from contributors who understood to just what purposes it was to be devoted, TO PAY SEVERAL THOUSAND DOLLARS OF DEFAULTED BILLS OF CAPTAIN FREDERICKS' OWN CAMPAIGN, including large hotel bills and advances for railroad fare, and thereby restored the solvency and credit of the Republican state organization.

Here's Speedy Relief from Kidney Troubles

Some days it seems as if you can no longer bear the pain and misery you suffer from kidney and bladder trouble. The ache across your back grows worse with every move you make, and with every step you take. It not only robs you of all your strength and energy, but it affects the other important organs of the body as well. Nervousness, headache, disordered stomach, liver trouble, bad eyesight, are only some of the conditions that follow kidney trouble.

Foley Kidney Pills help the sick weak kidneys to regain their normal healthy state and activity. When they are again able to do their work effectively, your system is no longer choked and blocked with poisonous waste matter. Your symptoms clear up, your weariness, pain, misery and weakness go away. Foley Kidney Pills can do you also "a heap of good."

FREE AIR SIGN BLOWN THROUGH SHOW WINDOW

It cost the Ford Sales and Service Company about $150 today for the information it has been giving to the traveling public that free air is available at its garage.

A post set in the sidewalk and bearing the free-air sign was blown over by the wind and fell against the glass front, breaking two panes of glass which it is estimated will cost between $125 and $150 to replace.

A strong gust of wind caught the sign about 8 o'clock and the post crashed into the window.

Second Lyceum Number Tuesday

The second number on the Lyceum course, which is due tomorrow night, promises to be just as big a treat as the opening attraction.

The program of the Regniers is one that has been worked out along original lines as adapted to the two presenting it. Mr. and Mrs. Regnier are entertainers, each one, but the clever and unique combining of their talents, as in this program, has met with a wonderful success.

There are vocal duets, solos, impersonations, trombone solos and pianologues, all hung together by a framework in the form of a conversational sketch.

The variety of the whole arrangement is apparent because the two artists are remarkably versatile. But this framework connects everything, and the various parts introduced are not broken up. There is just enough dialogue running all through so that each number runs naturally into the other.

Mr. Regnier was the trombone soloist of a Chautauqua concert company first, and later he was made a member of one of the leading male quartets doing Chautauqua work. In this he was tenor, trombonist, reader and all around entertainer.

"EYES OF WORLD" FILM IS COMING TO CLUNE'S

Two or three years ago Harold Bell Wright, popular writer, whose eight romances, including "The Shepherd of the Hills" and "The Winning of Barbara Worth," are said to have a total sale of nearly eight million copies, added to his galaxy of best sellers "The Eyes of the World." This story, whose scenes are laid in "Fairlands, Cal.," has been popularly believed to be a story of Redlands and the mountains of Southern California.

"The Eyes of the World" has been put into elaborate pictorial form for the theater by the Clune Film Producing Company, and the announcement is now made that because of bookings at the Auditorium Theater in Los Angeles this production of Wright's California story will be shown in this city before its presentation in Los Angeles, as first proposed. It will be presented at Clune's Santa Ana Theater on Sunday, November 19, and for two days thereafter. Meanwhile Los Angelans who have been eagerly awaiting the premiere of "The Eyese of the World" must bear themselves in patience.

It was in the Auditorium that "The Clansman" ("The Birth of a Nation") of which W. H. Clune was one of the producers, was first preesnted in America and subsequently ran for twenty-three weeks. In that house also "Ramona," the other Clune masterpiece in twelve reels, ran for ten weeks to a total attendance of more than 170,000 pople.

For six months past the entire resources of the Clune studio in Los Angeles have been centered on the elaborate filming of Wright's story. It is promised for this work that it is the finest translation of a current popular romance ever prepared for a theater. It is in ten sections and consumes an entire afternoon or evening in its showing. The scenario for the work was prepared by the noted author himself, who has also given his personal assistance for several weeks past in the day-by-day work of interpreting his characters for the screen.

At the Princess

In his next Mutual Star production which comes to the Princess theatre tonight, William Russell is seen in the role of a guide of the North Woods, who is a rough, two-handed fighter of great physical strength, and at the same time a dreamer, a writer of verse. "The Strength of Donald McKenzie" is one of the best five act dramas in which Mr. Russell has appeared and affords him abundant opportunity for the display of great strength and virile facial expression. Miss Charlotte Burton is seen in the supporting cast in the leading feminine role.

At Clune's

While the William Fox company on the Coast was filming "Fires of Conscience," the police chiefs of California held a convention in Los Angeles. For a diversion one afternoon they visited the Fox studios at Edendale.

H. A. Barrows plays a police chief in the new picture, and he was wearing his costume when the assembled visitors, headed by Chief Snively of Los Angeles, came to the studio. The two were introduced.

"So glad to know you, Mr. Barrows," said Chief Snively; "where are you from?"

The actor, without a thought that Mr. Snively took him to be a genuine officer, replied:

"Saco, Maine."

That settled it. The meeting of East and West was complete. Chief Snively found no end of pleasure in learning about the ways of the Down Easterners. Finally he put in an unwise question about police methods in Maine.

"Does your force have much trouble enforcing the prohibition laws?" he asked.

"My force?" repeated Barrows, "I haven't any force."

"I mean the men under you in Saco," said Snively.

Then the truth dawned on the actor. He told Snively the facts, as gently as possible, shook hands, and declared all bets off.

At Clune's tonight and Tuesday.

SPECIAL MEETINGS AT LOCAL CHURCH START

The meetings at the First Christian church started in a very encouraging way. The congregations were large and attentive. The morning service was a merger service and nearly all of the Bible school remained for the entire service.

Mr. Millard won his way into the hearts of the people by his splendid solos.

Rev. Paul E. Wright spoke upon the subject: "The Church," in the morning, and said among other things, that he would not assume anything in these meetings but preferred to take things as he found them. He said: "All will agree that we have the church with us. Whether one believes its claims or not he must admit that it had become an institution among us.

"No other body of people had charged themselves with the business of educating the unfortunate and benighted nations of the world. The scope of the work of the church was world-wide and presented a program of culture and education equal to any offered by any other line of life work.

"There is no club among women that has so complete a grasp on the world situation and needs as the missionary societies of the churches. The church is the outgrowth of the teachings of a certain book. Whether one believed the contents of the book or not, we have the book. In this book there is outlined a character we call Christ. The work becomes one of deciding whether the character of Christ is invented or historical. If he is an invented character the literary problem is greater than the historical one, for it is difficult to believe that the humble men that wrote the gospels had such superior skill and wisdom."

Rev. Wright will follow this line of thought for the next two or three evenings and invites everyone to hear the discussion of this subject. Mr. Millard will sing at every service.

BIBLE STUDY SERIES WILL START TONIGHT

Rev. H. E. Hoare, acting pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church, will begin a series of Monday evening Bible studies at the Immanuel Baptist church tonight. Rev. Hoare is doing similar work in Long Beach, Pasadena, Torrance and Los Angeles under the auspices of the Christian and Missionary Alliance. These services are strictly undenominational and every lover of the word is invited to attend. Themes vital to the Christian life will be considered.

SUSPICIOUS ACTIONS AROUSE NEIGHBORHOOD

Residents in the vicinity of Van Ness and Washington have been annoyed considerably of late by a man who has made a habit of visiting that section and acting in a mysterious manner. Mrs. W. T. Kirven, 1218 Van Ness, reported the visit of the mysterious character Saturday night and Officer Pond went out to investigate but found no one loitering about the neighborhood. The man was again seen near the corner last night.

COLLEGE GRADUATES WILL ENJOY BILLIE BURKE'S PRANKS

Miss Billie Burke

$4,000 Per Week Star Proves a Regular Cut-Up in Dormitory Scenes Shown This Week

Ever been to college? Ever participate in any of the gay midnight larks that make college days the happiest of one's life? Ever make rarebit or fudge under the very nose of the powers that be—risking certain expulsion from school if discovered? If you have done any of these things you will thoroughly enjoy this week's chapter of "Gloria's Romance," which Manager Schlesinger of the West End Theater announces for tonight at his house.

Many of the scenes of this chapter of the great Rupert Hughes motion picture novel, starring Billie Burke, are laid in a girls' dormitory at college and Billie herself proves a regular little minx. She and her schoolgirl friends make rarebit and fudge, talk over love secrets and otherwise enjoy themselves as only girls know how, right under the matron's nose. Incidently the audience is given more than a glimpse of fair Billie in charming negligee—for naturally when one is making fudge, expecting at any moment to have to dive back into bed and pretend one has been asleep all the while, one doesn't fully dress.

MINOR ACCIDENTS ARE REPORTED TO OFFICERS

A number of minor accidents happened to machines Saturday and Sunday, according to reports filed at the city police office.

J. H. Lippiatt, who resides in Tustin, reports that he was driving a rig near Tustin Saturday night when an automobile carrying state license No. 188654 hit his buggy and wrenched a wheel.

J. H. Pfieffer of 308 Parton, was driving on Main street Saturday evening and hit a wheel standing on the curb near the Farmers and Merchants' National Bank, and also struck the peanut wagon of Smith, who operates the stand at the corner. The front axle of the peanut wagon was sprung.

An Oldsmobile driven by Local Agent C. C. Crawford was struck at the corner of Fourth and Broadway by a machine driven by Raymond Dyer of Orange. Slight damage was sustained by each machine.

COOLEY EXHIBITS FINE CLUSTER OF ORANGES

E. E. Cooley, who owns ten acres of three-year-old Valencia orange trees at Garden Grove, was in the city this morning exhibiting a branch containing fourteen good-size oranges. The cluster was of perfect oranges and is considered a splendid showing for trees of the age of that from which it was taken and is another demonstration of the fact that Garden Grove is an orange growing section.

Cooley, as a real estate man, has owned many groves in orange county but has held them only until such a time as he could dispose of them. He has come to the conclusion that an orchard at Garden Grove is worth tying to and it is his intention to keep this tract and develop it.

Last year he pulled off the trees what he estimated to be a full carload. He did this in order not to burden the trees and in the belief that he would be compensated later in the increased production of his orchard and the symmetry of his trees.

LELAND PENMAN IS TODAY MUCH IMPROVED

Leland Penman, who was terribly injured Friday afternoon when struck in the face with a fork load of beets, today is reported so much improved that there is a chance for him to recover.

The young man suffered a fracture at the base of the skull and has not yet regained consciousness, although he now shows signs of doing so.

A very pleasant meeting of the B. B. Club was held on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. R. Stearns on South Broadway, pink roses being used to brighten the rooms.

The time was pleasantly spent with social chat and late in the afternoon Mrs. Stearns surprised her guests with a dainty pink and blue luncheon, served in two delicious courses.

Those present besides the hostess were her cousin, Mrs. Ruby Belcher of Los Angeles, Mmes. E. H. McMath, Ted Shaw, Dan Stearns, Barry McPhee, W. B. Dennis, Edward Potts Abbott of Los Angeles, Ray Lambert and Glenn Wells.

Second Lyceum Number Tuesday

The second number on the Lyceum course, which is due tomorrow night, promises to be just as big a treat as the opening attraction.

The program of the Regniers is one that has been worked out along original lines as adapted to the two presenting it. Mr. and Mrs. Regnier are entertainers, each one, but the clever and unique combining of their talents, as in this program, has met with a wonderful success.

There are vocal duets, solos, impersonations, trombone solos and pianologues, all hung together by a framework in the form of a conversational sketch.

The variety of the whole arrangement is apparent because the two artists are remarkably versatile. But this framework connects everything, and the various parts introduced are not broken up. There is just enough dialogue running all through so that each number runs naturally into the other.

Mr. Regnier was the trombone soloist of a Chautauqua concert company first, and later he was made a member of one of the leading male quartets doing Chautauqua work. In this he was tenor, trombonist, reader and all around entertainer.

"EYES OF WORLD" FILM IS COMING TO CLUNE'S

Two or three years ago Harold Bell Wright, popular writer, whose eight romances, including "The Shepherd of the Hills" and "The Winning of Barbara Worth," are said to have a total sale of nearly eight million copies, added to his galaxy of best sellers "The Eyes of the World." This story, whose scenes are laid in "Fairlands, Cal.," has been popularly believed to be a story of Redlands and the mountains of Southern California.

"The Eyes of the World" has been put into elaborate pictorial form for the theater by the Clune Film Producing Company, and the announcement is now made that because of bookings at the Auditorium Theater in Los Angeles this production of Wright's California story will be shown in this city before its presentation in Los Angeles, as first proposed. It will be presented at Clune's Santa Ana Theater on Sunday, November 19, and for two days thereafter. Meanwhile Los Angelans who have been eagerly awaiting the premiere of "The Eyese of the World" must bear themselves in patience.

It was in the Auditorium that "The Clansman" ("The Birth of a Nation") of which W. H. Clune was one of the producers, was first preesnted in America and subsequently ran for twenty-three weeks. In that house also "Ramona," the other Clune masterpiece in twelve reels, ran for ten weeks to a total attendance of more than 170,000 pople.

For six months past the entire resources of the Clune studio in Los Angeles have been centered on the elaborate filming of Wright's story. It is promised for this work that it is the finest translation of a current popular romance ever prepared for a theater. It is in ten sections and consumes an entire afternoon or evening in its showing. The scenario for the work was prepared by the noted author himself, who has also given his personal assistance for several weeks past in the day-by-day work of interpreting his characters for the screen.

At the Princess

In his next Mutual Star production which comes to the Princess theatre tonight, William Russell is seen in the role of a guide of the North Woods, who is a rough, two-handed fighter of great physical strength, and at the same time a dreamer, a writer of verse. "The Strength of Donald McKenzie" is one of the best five act dramas in which Mr. Russell has appeared and affords him abundant opportunity for the display of great strength and virile facial expression. Miss Charlotte Burton is seen in the supporting cast in the leading feminine role.

At Clune's

While the William Fox company on the Coast was filming "Fires of Conscience," the police chiefs of California held a convention in Los Angeles. For a diversion one afternoon they visited the Fox studios at Edendale.

H. A. Barrows plays a police chief in the new picture, and he was wearing his costume when the assembled visitors, headed by Chief Snively of Los Angeles, came to the studio. The two were introduced.

"So glad to know you, Mr. Barrows," said Chief Snively; "where are you from?"

The actor, without a thought that Mr. Snively took him to be a genuine officer, replied:

"Saco, Maine."

That settled it. The meeting of East and West was complete. Chief Snively found no end of pleasure in learning about the ways of the Down Easterners. Finally he put in an unwise question about police methods in Maine.

"Does your force have much trouble enforcing the prohibition laws?" he asked.

"My force?" repeated Barrows, "I haven't any force."

"I mean the men under you in Saco," said Snively.

Then the truth dawned on the actor. He told Snively the facts, as gently as possible, shook hands, and declared all bets off.

At Clune's tonight and Tuesday.

SPECIAL MEETINGS AT LOCAL CHURCH START

The meetings at the First Christian church started in a very encouraging way. The congregations were large and attentive. The morning service was a merger service and nearly all of the Bible school remained for the entire service.

Mr. Millard won his way into the hearts of the people by his splendid solos.

Rev. Paul E. Wright spoke upon the subject: "The Church," in the morning, and said among other things, that he would not assume anything in these meetings but preferred to take things as he found them. He said: "All will agree that we have the church with us. Whether one believes its claims or not he must admit that it had become an institution among us.

"No other body of people had charged themselves with the business of educating the unfortunate and benighted nations of the world. The scope of the work of the church was world-wide and presented a program of culture and education equal to any offered by any other line of life work.

"There is no club among women that has so complete a grasp on the world situation and needs as the missionary societies of the churches. The church is the outgrowth of the teachings of a certain book. Whether one believed the contents of the book or not, we have the book. In this book there is outlined a character we call Christ. The work becomes one of deciding whether the character of Christ is invented or historical. If he is an invented character the literary problem is greater than the historical one, for it is difficult to believe that the humble men that wrote the gospels had such superior skill and wisdom."

Rev. Wright will follow this line of thought for the next two or three evenings and invites everyone to hear the discussion of this subject. Mr. Millard will sing at every service.

BIBLE STUDY SERIES WILL START TONIGHT

Rev. H. E. Hoare, acting pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church, will begin a series of Monday evening Bible studies at the Immanuel Baptist church tonight. Rev. Hoare is doing similar work in Long Beach, Pasadena, Torrance and Los Angeles under the auspices of the Christian and Missionary Alliance. These services are strictly undenominational and every lover of the word is invited to attend. Themes vital to the Christian life will be considered.

SUSPICIOUS ACTIONS AROUSE NEIGHBORHOOD

Residents in the vicinity of Van Ness and Washington have been annoyed considerably of late by a man who has made a habit of visiting that section and acting in a mysterious manner. Mrs. W. T. Kirven, 1218 Van Ness, reported the visit of the mysterious character Saturday night and Officer Pond went out to investigate but found no one loitering about the neighborhood. The man was again seen near the corner last night.

COLLEGE GRADUATES WILL ENJOY BILLIE BURKE'S PRANKS

Miss Billie Burke

$4,000 Per Week Star Proves a Regular Cut-Up in Dormitory Scenes Shown This Week

Ever been to college? Ever participate in any of the gay midnight larks that make college days the happiest of one's life? Ever make rarebit or fudge under the very nose of the powers that be—risking certain expulsion from school if discovered? If you have done any of these things you will thoroughly enjoy this week's chapter of "Gloria's Romance," which Manager Schlesinger of the West End Theater announces for tonight at his house.

Many of the scenes of this chapter of the great Rupert Hughes motion picture novel, starring Billie Burke, are laid in a girls' dormitory at college and Billie herself proves a regular little minx. She and her schoolgirl friends make rarebit and fudge, talk over love secrets and otherwise enjoy themselves as only girls know how, right under the matron's nose. Incidently the audience is given more than a glimpse of fair Billie in charming negligee—for naturally when one is making fudge, expecting at any moment to have to dive back into bed and pretend one has been asleep all the while, one doesn't fully dress.

MINOR ACCIDENTS ARE REPORTED TO OFFICERS

A number of minor accidents happened to machines Saturday and Sunday, according to reports filed at the city police office.

J. H. Lippiatt, who resides in Tustin, reports that he was driving a rig near Tustin Saturday night when an automobile carrying state license No. 188654 hit his buggy and wrenched a wheel.

J. H. Pfieffer of 308 Parton, was driving on Main street Saturday evening and hit a wheel standing on the curb near the Farmers and Merchants' National Bank, and also struck the peanut wagon of Smith, who operates the stand at the corner. The front axle of the peanut wagon was sprung.

An Oldsmobile driven by Local Agent C. C. Crawford was struck at the corner of Fourth and Broadway by a machine driven by Raymond Dyer of Orange. Slight damage was sustained by each machine.

COOLEY EXHIBITS FINE CLUSTER OF ORANGES

E. E. Cooley, who owns ten acres of three-year-old Valencia orange trees at Garden Grove, was in the city this morning exhibiting a branch containing fourteen good-size oranges. The cluster was of perfect oranges and is considered a splendid showing for trees of the age of that from which it was taken and is another demonstration of the fact that Garden Grove is an orange growing section.

Cooley, as a real estate man, has owned many groves in orange county but has held them only until such a time as he could dispose of them. He has come to the conclusion that an orchard at Garden Grove is worth tying to and it is his intention to keep this tract and develop it.

Last year he pulled off the trees what he estimated to be a full carload. He did this in order not to burden the trees and in the belief that he would be compensated later in the increased production of his orchard and the symmetry of his trees.

LELAND PENMAN IS TODAY MUCH IMPROVED

Leland Penman, who was terribly injured Friday afternoon when struck in the face with a fork load of beets, today is reported so much improved that there is a chance for him to recover.

The young man suffered a fracture at the base of the skull and has not yet regained consciousness, although he now shows signs of doing so.

LUMBER COMPANY FINDS IT HARD TO KEEP SACKS

The Roberts-Olver Company has a hard time to keep sacks in which to sack sawdust from its planing mill. Small boys seem to keep a sharper watch on the sacks than do the owners, with the result that the owners lose out every once in a while.

Between twelve and fifteen cement sacks were stolen from the lumber yards between Saturday night and Monday morning, and the theft is believed to have been the work of small boys in need of pin money.

There is no clew to the thief or thieves.

The barn was the property of J. P. O'Brien. Eighty tons of hay was destroyed. Of seven head of horses and mules in the structure at the time the fire was discovered, two horses were burned to death. The origin of the blaze is unknown.

THINK HE HAS SEVEN WIVES NOT DIVORCED

Woman Who Sued For Annulment Has Man Arrested For Bigamy

Mrs. Josie A. Bolin of Santa Ana is one of the wives of Henry H. Burgess, alias Hall, who was arested at Long Beach Saturday on a charge of bigamy. Most recent developments in Hall's case is the accusation of the Long Beach police that he has seven wives all living and undivorced. The Santa Ana woman is No. 3, 4 or 5 or may be 6 or 7. Detectives Mitchell and Cervantes of Long Beach have not yet been able to straighten out all of the tangles of Burgess' adventures in matrimony.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Bolin, with Clyde Bishop as her attorney, brought suit in Santa Ana for the annulment of her marriage to Burgess. The complaint recited only three marriages of Burgess, though at that time Mrs. Bolin felt quite certain that there was a fourth wife. After Burgess was arrested the officers found a lot of letters in his possession that convinced them that the total number of wives is at least seven.

Burgess declares that lapses of memory resulted in entire forgetfulness on his part of former marriages, and he says that whenever he took unto himself a new wife he was oblivious of the fact that there were others living.

The women, however, are of the opinion that Burgess knew just what he was doing, and are fully satisfied that he was marrying for money, and made no odds about getting hold of as much money as possible from each and every one of them.

Mrs. Bolin married Burgess in Los Angeles last February. She has a legal residence in Santa Ana though she lives most of the time in Los Angeles.

Three of the four knots tied in the Burgess matrimonial line, according to Mrs. Bolin, occurred after Burgess had spent an apparently happy twenty-five years with Mrs. Annie Burgess of St. Paul, Minn.

Leaving this woman, according to the complaining witness against him in the bigamy charge, brought in Los Angeles, Burgess traveled over the country under several assumed names and is alleged to have married Mrs. Lillie Beck Mull in Omaha, Neb., in 1910. She now lives in La Grande, Ore.

Mrs. Effie Murray of Minnesota, alias Hall, in Santa Ana on March 28 last. Henry H. Hall is the cognomen assumed by the aged Don Juan when he met and won wives Nos. 2 and 3, says Mrs. Burgess No. 4.

"He said he was lonesome, but he wanted my money," she said in relating her experience with Burgess.

"His engaging ways and apparent frankness in telling me of his business affairs, and his ardent wooing, extending over a period of two weeks, led to our marriage, which took place in Los Angeles."

According to Mrs. Bolin, Burgess' too evident desire to get hold of her property, consisting of an extensive cotton plantation near Fort Worth, Texas, and her bank account, early aroused her suspicions.

The Long Beach detectives, on going over Burgess' correspondence yesterday found letters from women in Chicago and San Diego. Each was written in tones of endearment, as from wife to husband, and each mentioned the inclosure of money. Burgess secured $150 from the alleged wife No. 5 in Chicago, and $65 from the supposed wife No. 6 in San Diego. The officers have telegraphed these women, whose names they are keeping secret. They suspect that a seventh woman, in Kansas City, may have been the wife of Burgess. Burgess is 57 years old.

Mrs. Josie Bolin Hall of Santa Ana, who signed the complaint alleging bigamy, which placed Burgess behind the bars, states that a dream was responsible for her taking the trail of the alleged bigamist.

"For a long time I heard nothing of Mr. Burgess, or Mr. Hall, as I knew him," she said today. "Then, one night, I dreamed that he had married another woman, in Santa Ana. This was when I lived on my ranch in Texas.

"I wrote to the Orange County recorder, and found that my dream was true. He had married Mrs. Effie Murray in September of last year. I came to Santa Ana and began advertising in the papers for her. I found her, and we compared notes, finding that the man whom we both thought was our legal husband had also married Emma Hall in St. Paul, Minn., and Mrs. Lillie Beck Hall, in Omaha. I gave out the information to the police, and I hope now that he is in he will not get out."

Redlands Growers Are Expecting to Send Many Cars Out For Christmas

EAST REDLANDS, Nov. 13.—There will be more money for the growers in the Christmas pool of oranges this year than ever before, if the oranges continue to advance in the next two weeks as they have in the past two weeks. The fruit is rapidly turning to a golden color and there is no doubt but that a large amount of it will be ready for the Christmas trade. The oranges will also bring good prices, it is believed.

The shipping companies have had chemists at work for about a week testing the oranges to see whether they will pass the 8 to 1 test and one of these chemists says that he can tell by the fruit what district in the county it came from. The oranges on the sand ripen much earlier than those on the hillsides, where the soil is not so warm.

Fruit growers say that the percentage of culls this year promises to be the lowest of any large crop in many years. There has been but little wind during the past month and the oranges have not been bruised as is so often the case. The fruit will also run to the sizes that market well, the trouble last year being that the fruit ran to such large sizes that it was difficult to market it to advantage.

The crop is a large one throughout the county, and many packing houses that were idle last year are to be opened this year. The fruit workers are beginning to come in from the North, where they spent the summer.

San Fernando High School Is Defeated In One-sided Affair, 47 to 6

FULLERTON, Nov. 13.—Two Los Angeles county elevens played a double-header on the local gridiron Saturday afternoon. In the first game Fullerton High School defeated San Fernando by 47 to 6. San Fernando made its touchdown on a forward pass in the first quarter, while Fullerton was rolling up thirteen. In the third quarter one of the San Fernando boys, Lardner, had to be taken out on account of a sprained knee. The visitors put up a good, fast game, but were outclassed, as the Fullerton boys have never played a better or snappier game in the history of the school.

In the second game Los Angeles defeated Fullerton Junior College by 13 to 0, and the home team thought itself lucky, as the Los Angeles team is the best Junior College eleven in all of Southern California, beside which they outweighed the local boys by about 12 pounds apiece. Los Angeles earned one touchdown on line bucks in the first quarter, and made a touchdown on a forward pass and kicked goal in the second quarter. Both teams played even in the second half, making equal gains. It was real, classy football throughout.

FULLERTON IS WINNER 3 TO 2

Great Stuff Shown In Series Game Against Pasadena Artists

FULLERTON, Nov. 13.—Playing shutout ball, Fullerton defeated Pasadena here yesterday afternoon by a score of 3 to 0 and took the lead in a five-game series, in which Fullerton is defending the title of semi-professional champions of Southern California. Third base was the nearest Pasadena came to getting a tally and that was in the first inning, but thereafter the Crown City club fell down in getting a runner past second.

Both Arkenburg and Decanniere pitched airtight ball. In the third inning Decanniere threw only three balls, two of them materializing in outfield flies and the third going to short.

In the seventh Berkel slashed out a line drive that should have been a three-base hit. The ball went between third and short and G. Callan, in a long jump, made a one-handed catch. Callan's brother, Buster, catcher, made the second spectacular catch of the afternoon, running down a foul fly, ticked by Sinclair in the seventh, when he essayed a bunt. The second game of the series will be played next Sunday at Pasadena.

Summary

Two-base hit—Rose. Sacrifice hit—B. Callan. Stolen bases—Carmondy, Daniels, 2; Rose. Struck out—By Arkenburg, 6; by Decanniere, 6. Bases on balls—Off Arkenburg, 6; off Decanniere, 3. Errors—Pasadena, 2; Fullerton, 1. Umpires—Searcey and Brashear. Batteries—Fullerton—Decanniere and Callan; Pasadena, Arkenburg and Cox.

WESTERN TIMBER MAY FURNISH RELIEF IN NEWSPAPER FAMINE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Relief from the critical newsprint paper situation seems probable from studies made in the forest service laboratories.

It has been found that good grades of paper can be made from a number of western woods which experts estimate can be cut into chips, dried baled and delivered to mills in Wisconsin at a very small advance over the cost of chips made there from local timber.

The only factor blocking the way seems to be freight rates and the Wisconsin mills are endeavoring to negotiate with the railroads for shipment of experimental trainloads of chips from the West. If a favorable freight rate can be obtained, forest service experts say, the great quantity of pulpwood on the national forests should prove a considerable foctor in supplying favorably located paper mills with the necessary raw material.

In Wisconsin alone, it is stated, there is an annual market for more than 300,000 cords of pulpwood.

FLOATING ON LADDER

Then Flood Victim Crouched Beside Tombstone

VICTORIA, Texas—H. J. Mench, the only resident of old Indianola, which formerly was one of the most important ports along the Texas coast, and was abandoned after the storm of 1916, had a narrow escape from drowning in a recent storm. The high tide caused the waters of Matagorda bay to inundate most of the site of the old town and to surround Mr. Mench's home. He saved himself by floating on a ladder for a distance of about two miles to a place of safety in the Indianola cemetery. He spent the night there, crouching behind a tombstone to protect himself from the wind. Mr. Mench is about sixty years of age, and is one of the best known fishermen and hunters along the coast.

LUMBER COMPANY FINDS IT HARD TO KEEP SACKS

The Roberts-Olver Company has a hard time to keep sacks in which to sack sawdust from its planing mill. Small boys seem to keep a sharper watch on the sacks than do the owners, with the result that the owners lose out every once in a while.

Between twelve and fifteen cement sacks were stolen from the lumber yards between Saturday night and Monday morning, and the theft is believed to have been the work of small boys in need of pin money.

There is no clew to the thief or thieves.

THINK HE HAS SEVEN WIVES NOT DIVORCED

Woman Who Sued For Annulment Has Man Arrested For Bigamy

Mrs. Josie A. Bolin of Santa Ana is one of the wives of Henry H. Burgess, alias Hall, who was arested at Long Beach Saturday on a charge of bigamy. Most recent developments in Hall's case is the accusation of the Long Beach police that he has seven wives all living and undivorced. The Santa Ana woman is No. 3, 4 or 5 or may be 6 or 7. Detectives Mitchell and Cervantes of Long Beach have not yet been able to straighten out all of the tangles of Burgess' adventures in matrimony.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Bolin, with Clyde Bishop as her attorney, brought suit in Santa Ana for the annulment of her marriage to Burgess. The complaint recited only three marriages of Burgess, though at that time Mrs. Bolin felt quite certain that there was a fourth wife. After Burgess was arrested the officers found a lot of letters in his possession that convinced them that the total number of wives is at least seven.

Burgess declares that lapses of memory resulted in entire forgetfulness on his part of former marriages, and he says that whenever he took unto himself a new wife he was oblivious of the fact that there were others living.

The women, however, are of the opinion that Burgess knew just what he was doing, and are fully satisfied that he was marrying for money, and made no odds about getting hold of as much money as possible from each and every one of them.

Mrs. Bolin married Burgess in Los Angeles last February. She has a legal residence in Santa Ana though she lives most of the time in Los Angeles.

Three of the four knots tied in the Burgess matrimonial line, according to Mrs. Bolin, occurred after Burgess had spent an apparently happy twenty-five years with Mrs. Annie Burgess of St. Paul, Minn.

Leaving this woman, according to the complaining witness against him in the bigamy charge, brought in Los Angeles, Burgess traveled over the country under several assumed names and is alleged to have married Mrs. Lillie Beck Mull in Omaha, Neb., in 1910. She now lives in La Grande, Ore.

Mrs. Effie Murray of Minnesota, alias Hall, in Santa Ana on March 28 last. Henry H. Hall is the cognomen assumed by the aged Don Juan when he met and won wives Nos. 2 and 3, says Mrs. Burgess No. 4.

"He said he was lonesome, but he wanted my money," she said in relating her experience with Burgess.

"His engaging ways and apparent frankness in telling me of his business affairs, and his ardent wooing, extending over a period of two weeks, led to our marriage, which took place in Los Angeles."

According to Mrs. Bolin, Burgess' too evident desire to get hold of her property, consisting of an extensive cotton plantation near Fort Worth, Texas, and her bank account, early aroused her suspicions.

The Long Beach detectives, on going over Burgess' correspondence yesterday found letters from women in Chicago and San Diego. Each was written in tones of endearment, as from wife to husband, and each mentioned the inclosure of money. Burgess secured $150 from the alleged wife No. 5 in Chicago, and $65 from the supposed wife No. 6 in San Diego. The officers have telegraphed these women, whose names they are keeping secret. They suspect that a seventh woman, in Kansas City, may have been the wife of Burgess. Burgess is 57 years old.

Mrs. Josie Bolin Hall of Santa Ana, who signed the complaint alleging bigamy, which placed Burgess behind the bars, states that a dream was responsible for her taking the trail of the alleged bigamist.

"For a long time I heard nothing of Mr. Burgess, or Mr. Hall, as I knew him," she said today. "Then, one night, I dreamed that he had married another woman, in Santa Ana. This was when I lived on my ranch in Texas.

"I wrote to the Orange County recorder, and found that my dream was true. He had married Mrs. Effie Murray in September of last year. I came to Santa Ana and began advertising in the papers for her. I found her, and we compared notes, finding that the man whom we both thought was our legal husband had also married Emma Hall in St. Paul, Minn., and Mrs. Lillie Beck Hall, in Omaha. I gave out the information to the police, and I hope now that he is in he will not get out."

CAPTAIN JOHN JACOB ASTOR, son of Baron Astor, the erstwhile William Waldorf Astor, expatriated millionaire of New York City, has just married Lady Nairne and is back in the trenches as an officer in the British army.

TUSTIN LOSES TO L. A. BALL CLUB, 7-8

The San Diego Bar baseball club of Los Angeles defeated the Tustin club at the old Moose grounds on Fruit street yesterday by a score of 7 to 8. Tustin got twelve hits and made six errors. The Angelenos scored nine hits and made three errors. Smith, Phelps and Lan Franco were used in the box by Tustin, Woodward and Potter catching. Montijo and Nagle formed the battery for the San Diego Bar team.

BIG SHIPMENT WILL BE MADE

EAST REDLANDS, Nov. 13.—There will be more money for the growers in the Christmas pool of oranges this year than ever before, if the oranges continue to advance in the next two weeks as they have in the past two weeks. The fruit is rapidly turning to a golden color and there is no doubt but that a large amount of it will be ready for the Christmas trade. The oranges will also bring good prices, it is believed.

The shipping companies have had chemists at work for about a week testing the oranges to see whether they will pass the 8 to 1 test and one of these chemists says that he can tell by the fruit what district in the county it came from. The oranges on the sand ripen much earlier than those on the hillsides, where the soil is not so warm.

Fruit growers say that the percentage of culls this year promises to be the lowest of any large crop in many years. There has been but little wind during the past month and the oranges have not been bruised as is so often the case. The fruit will also run to the sizes that market well, the trouble last year being that the fruit ran to such large sizes that it was difficult to market it to advantage.

The crop is a large one throughout the county, and many packing houses that were idle last year are to be opened this year. The fruit workers are beginning to come in from the North, where they spent the summer.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

Although flour prices remain untouched, local millers have raised their quotations on practically all feeds 5 to 10 cents a hundred pounds. The price for all grades of flour is following closely the fluctuations in the primary wheat market, and anything in the way of an advance there is almost sure to result in higher prices for flour here. As a matter of fact, eastern grades of flour are very strong at present, and an advance all along the line in the next few days would not occasion surprise, even if the primary market should not go higher. Talk of an embargo on wheat exports is again being revived.

There was no activity on the Produce Exchange yesterday morning, and prices for the chief staples remained the same as the day before.

and get a clear vision of the possibilities of Fruit and Nut growing without irrigation in the Templeton-Paso Robles district—a swell place for a home—money making opportunities undreamed of a few years back, a combination of desirable conditions possessed by no other locality in the state, these are reasons why so many men from Orange county and other Southern California points are investing there.

10 acre lots, best orchard zone, near town, fine soil for almonds, walnuts, pears or prunes—all money makers—$90.00 to $175.00 per acre.

10 acre lots, young orchards just coming into bearing, $300.00 to $400.00 per acre.

30 acres, ½ in alfalfa, ½ in fine pear, prune or walnut land, $200.00 per acre.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

Although flour prices remain untouched, local millers have raised their quotations on practically all feeds 5 to 10 cents a hundred pounds. The price for all grades of flour is following closely the fluctuations in the primary wheat market, and anything in the way of an advance there is almost sure to result in higher prices for flour here. As a matter of fact, eastern grades of flour are very strong at present, and an advance all along the line in the next few days would not occasion surprise, even if the primary market should not go higher. Talk of an embargo on wheat exports is again being revived.

There was no activity on the Produce Exchange yesterday morning, and prices for the chief staples remained the same as the day before.

NESBITT SENDS HIS PROBATION REPORT HERE

Letter Received by Judge Just As Though There Was No Desertion of Army

A queer circumstance developed today in relation to the probation of George Nesbitt when Judge Thomas received two probation report cards from Nesbitt. Nesbitt, sentenced to ten years in San Quentin for manslaughter, in that he drove an automobile that killed Miss Isabel Thomas at Garden Grove, was recently reported to the authorities here as having deserted the army at Ft. Bliss, Tex., That act is a violation of probation, the order for which stated that Nesbitt must not violate any law. Nesbitt's violation of the terms of probation meant that a $3000 bond, signed by thirty people, would be forfeited.

Today Judge Thomas received an envelope postmarked November 11 at Douglas, Ariz. In the envelope was a report card for September, it being a duplicate of one that Nesbitt had previously reported as having been sent but which was never received. The second was a card for October. That card stated that Nesbitt is still in the army, and that he has violated no law. Nesbitt is reported to have deserted from Ft. Bliss on October 10.

Just what the reports from Nesbitt mean, have not been explained. He may believe that his desertion is not known here, and that by sending the reports he will prevent search for him by the Orange county authorities.

Final Decree

Asks Probation

A man who gives his name as Heath pleaded guilty at forgery at Anaheim, and through his attorney, L. W. Blodget, he asked for probation. The hearing was set for November 20.

Sent to Prison

Manuel Guerrero pleaded guilty to stealing a horse from Pedro Delgado, and today was sentenced by Judge West to three years in San Quentin. At the time the horse was found in Guerrero's possession he insisted that the horse followed him and kept on following him, and though Guerrero never intended to steal the horse, he finally put him in the shafts.

SCHOOL HEADS WANT CHANGES IN MANY LAWS

More Money, a Budget, Building Fund, Longer Teaching Period Desired

At a meeting of the Orange County Grammar School Principals Association Saturday, a number of changes in school laws were declared desirable, and County School Superintendent R. P. Mitchell and Principal C. E. Teach of Orange, president of the association, were named as a committee to work with State Senator-elect Evans of Riverside and Assemblyman J. C. Burke in securing the provisions desired, and to co-operate with Mark Kennel of Los Angeles, chairman of the legislative committee of the state superintendents association, in furthering the steps toward securing the legislation.

While some of the changes proposed are of minor importance, others are matters that will make considerable difference in school management, if they are put into law. School budgets, more money for grammar schools, better pay for grammar school teachers, building funds, increasing the period for a day's school work—these are among the proposals endorsed.

County Superintendent Mitchell outlined proposals, after which came a discussion of approval.

Need More Money

It was brought out that the institution of special departments in many of the grammar school districts has resulted in a drain upon school district funds. The necessity of more money for grammar school work was pointed out. One measure given approval was the raising of the minimum that may be allowed by a board of supervisors for grammar schools. In this county the supervisors have never shoved the rate down to the minimum.

It was declared that there is too much difference between the salaries paid grammar school teachers and those paid high school teachers. At present $900 a year is the average for the former and $1400 for the latter. The principals do not want to reduce the high school salaries, but they believe that the grammar school salaries should be boosted. In order to allow better salaries, the grammar school districts must have more money.

Building Fund

Mitchell said that he believed many of the districts could secure needed new buildings without bond issues if the law was such that any school district could establish a building fund which could be added to year by year until there was money enough on hand to build. This would be especially useful to small districts.

It was brought out that a school budget should be turned in to the county superintendent each year by each school board. Such a budget would tend to give the trustees a better knowledge of what they were working toward, and would be more businesslike than is now the practice.

One Set of Books

It was declared that the law requiring each school clerk to keep a set of books could be abolished. At present a complete set of books for each district is kept by the school superintendent of the county. The keeping of books is a burden upon district clerks, and a great deal of time is taken up in correcting books of some of the districts. By telephone and letter, each district could get its balances from the school superintendent's office.

A method of giving a school financial credit for vacation work upon an attendance basis was urged. At present the law allows a school to give vacation teaching, but it gets no credit for funds for that purpose.

Enough Teachers

The elimination of teachers examinations in counties was favored. It was stated that at present there is an over-supply of trained teachers in the state, and it is unwise to allow high school graduates without special training to take examinations to teach.

A change in the law whereby attendance credit may be given the district that schools a child from another district was approved.

That there should be more state schools for the care of defective children was brought out. It was suggested that it might be well to allow any county to establish such a school. At present there is no time for teachers to give the time and work that is necessary to develop children that have substantial defects.

Raise the Limit

At present the law limits the school day to six hours. It is proposed to change the law so that the day may be increased to eight hours. It is not proposed to allow a student to be in school for over six hours, but it is proposed to have the law in such shape that a high school with its various courses can have a teacher's services for eight hours in teaching work.

Our store and warehouse is crowded to the limit with home furnishings bought at old prices before the big advance and we are therefore in a position to quote very attractive prices. Horton-Spurgeon Furniture Company.

THREE TANGLES IN PRECINCT RETURNS

Santa Ana 17 Counted More On Assemblyman, No. 1 and No. 2 Than Cast

In Santa Ana Precinct No. 17 the tally sheet shows 374 votes cast upon assemblyman, 331 on Amendment No. 1 and 337 on Amendment No. 2, when there were but 314 votes cast at that polling place.

In Orangethorpe, no tally sheets were found in the returns that were open to inspection. The tally sheets were inadvertently enclosed with the ballots, which cannot be opened except in court in a contest.

In Magnolia, the first tally sheet found by the Board of Supervisors did not have the total number of votes cast. The second tally sheet was later found, and the total number was found.

This morning the Board of Supervisors began the canvass of the returns of the election last Tuesday. The canvass here may be finished by 10 o'clock tonight.

When the canvass began this morning J. S. Rice, chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee, H. C. Head, E. F. Waite, W. W. Simon, who was the Democratic nominee for assemblyman, M. C. Cooper, who has been one of the guards stationed by the Democrats, and S. W. Nau were on hand to watch the count. Attorney Nathan Newby of Los Angeles was sent here by the Los Angeles Democratic Central Committee, which has sent out representatives to all the southern counties, for the count.

This morning errors were noted in three precincts, and the election officers from those precincts were called in.

Santa Ana No. 17 showed a total of 314 votes cast. No errors were found excepting in the vote for assemblyman and on the first two amendments. J. C. Burke on the tally sheet has 259 votes, Simon, 115. C. P. Mattern, of the election board, testified that the error in Burke's vote was found before the election returns were turned over to the county clerk. Burke got 179 votes. The correction was made in the semi-official returns sheet, but not on the tally sheets.

Amendment No. 1 had 248 yes and 83 no, while No. 2 had 259 yes and 78 no.

District Attorney West said that since the tally sheets showed the error, the count would have to go that way, but could be corrected on a contest.

The proof for Orangethorpe precinct was made by swearing the precinct officials to the semi-official returns.

At 2:30 fifty-seven precincts' returns had been checked over. There were no changes in the head of the ticket.

NESBITT SENDS HIS PROBATION REPORT HERE

Letter Received by Judge Just As Though There Was No Desertion of Army

A queer circumstance developed today in relation to the probation of George Nesbitt when Judge Thomas received two probation report cards from Nesbitt. Nesbitt, sentenced to ten years in San Quentin for manslaughter, in that he drove an automobile that killed Miss Isabel Thomas at Garden Grove, was recently reported to the authorities here as having deserted the army at Ft. Bliss, Tex., That act is a violation of probation, the order for which stated that Nesbitt must not violate any law. Nesbitt's violation of the terms of probation meant that a $3000 bond, signed by thirty people, would be forfeited.

Today Judge Thomas received an envelope postmarked November 11 at Douglas, Ariz. In the envelope was a report card for September, it being a duplicate of one that Nesbitt had previously reported as having been sent but which was never received. The second was a card for October. That card stated that Nesbitt is still in the army, and that he has violated no law. Nesbitt is reported to have deserted from Ft. Bliss on October 10.

Just what the reports from Nesbitt mean, have not been explained. He may believe that his desertion is not known here, and that by sending the reports he will prevent search for him by the Orange county authorities.

Final Decree

Asks Probation

A man who gives his name as Heath pleaded guilty to forgery at Anaheim, and through his attorney, L. W. Blodget, he asked for probation. The hearing was set for November 20.

Sent to Prison

Manuel Guerrero pleaded guilty to stealing a horse from Pedro Delgado, and today was sentenced by Judge West to three years in San Quentin. At the time the horse was found in Guerrero's possession he insisted that the horse followed him and kept on following him, and though Guerrero never intended to steal the horse, he finally put him in the shafts.

SCHOOL HEADS WANT CHANGES IN MANY LAWS

More Money, a Budget, Building Fund, Longer Teaching Period Desired

At a meeting of the Orange County Grammar School Principals Association Saturday, a number of changes in school laws were declared desirable, and County School Superintendent R. P. Mitchell and Principal C. E. Teach of Orange, president of the association, were named as a committee to work with State Senator-elect Evans of Riverside and Assemblyman J. C. Burke in securing the provisions desired, and to co-operate with Mark Kennel of Los Angeles, chairman of the legislative committee of the state superintendents association, in furthering the steps toward securing the legislation.

While some of the changes proposed are of minor importance, others are matters that will make considerable difference in school management, if they are put into law. School budgets, more money for grammar schools, better pay for grammar school teachers, building funds, increasing the period for a day's school work—these are among the proposals endorsed.

County Superintendent Mitchell outlined proposals, after which came a discussion of approval.

Need More Money

It was brought out that the institution of special departments in many of the grammar school districts has resulted in a drain upon school district funds. The necessity of more money for grammar school work was pointed out. One measure given approval was the raising of the minimum that may be allowed by a board of supervisors for grammar schools. In this county the supervisors have never shoved the rate down to the minimum.

It was declared that there is too much difference between the salaries paid grammar school teachers and those paid high school teachers. At present $900 a year is the average for the former and $1400 for the latter. The principals do not want to reduce the high school salaries, but they believe that the grammar school salaries should be boosted. In order to allow better salaries, the grammar school districts must have more money.

Building Fund

Mitchell said that he believed many of the districts could secure needed new buildings without bond issues if the law was such that any school district could establish a building fund, which could be added to year by year until there was money enough on hand to build. This would be especially useful to small districts.

It was brought out that a school budget should be turned in to the county superintendent each year by each school board. Such a budget would tend to give the trustees a better knowledge of what they were working toward, and would be more businesslike than is now the practice.

One Set of Books

It was declared that the law requiring each school clerk to keep a set of books could be abolished. At present a complete set of books for each district is kept by the school superintendent of the county. The keeping of books is a burden upon district clerks, and a great deal of time is taken up in correcting books of some of the districts. By telephone and letter, each district could get its balances from the school superintendent's office.

A method of giving a school financial credit for vacation work upon an attendance basis was urged. At present the law allows a school to give vacation teaching, but it gets no credit for funds for that purpose.

Enough Teachers

The elimination of teachers examinations in counties was favored. It was stated that at present there is an over-supply of trained teachers in the state, and it is unwise to allow high school graduates without special training to take examinations to teach.

A change in the law whereby attendance credit may be given the district that schools a child from another district was approved.

That there should be more state schools for the care of defective children was brought out. It was suggested that it might be well to allow any county to establish such a school. At present there is no time for teachers to give the time and work that is necessary to develop children that have substantial defects.

Raise the Limit

At present the law limits the school day to six hours. It is proposed to change the law so that the day may be increased to eight hours. It is not proposed to allow a student to be in school for over six hours, but it is proposed to have the law in such shape that a high school with its various courses can have a teacher's services for eight hours in teaching work.

THREE TANGLES IN PRECINCT RETURNS

Santa Ana 17 Counted More On Assemblyman, No. 1 and No. 2 Than Cast

In Santa Ana Precinct No. 17 the tally sheet shows 374 votes cast upon assemblyman, 331 on Amendment No. 1 and 337 on Amendment No. 2, when there were but 314 votes cast at that polling place.

In Orangethorpe, no tally sheets were found in the returns that were open to inspection. The tally sheets were inadvertently enclosed with the ballots, which cannot be opened except in court in a contest.

In Magnolia, the first tally sheet found by the Board of Supervisors did not have the total number of votes cast. The second tally sheet was later found, and the total number was found.

This morning the Board of Supervisors began the canvass of the returns of the election last Tuesday. The canvass here may be finished by 10 o'clock tonight.

When the canvass began this morning J. S. Rice, chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee, H. C. Head, E. F. Waite, W. W. Simon, who was the Democratic nominee for assemblyman, M. C. Cooper, who has been one of the guards stationed by the Democrats, and S. W. Nau were on hand to watch the count. Attorney Nathan Newby of Los Angeles was sent here by the Los Angeles Democratic Central Committee, which has sent out representatives to all the southern counties, for the count.

This morning errors were noted in three precincts, and the election officers from those precincts were called in.

Santa Ana No. 17 showed a total of 314 votes cast. No errors were found excepting in the vote for assemblyman and on the first two amendments. J. C. Burke on the tally sheet has 259 votes, Simon, 115, C. P. Mattern, of the election board, testified that the error in Burke's vote was found before the election returns were turned over to the county clerk. Burke got 179 votes. The correction was made in the semi-official returns sheet, but not on the tally sheets.

Amendment No. 1 had 248 yes and 83 no, while No. 2 had 259 yes and 78 no.

District Attorney West said that since the tally sheets showed the error, the count would have to go that way, but could be corrected on a contest.

The proof for Orangethorpe precinct was made by swearing the precinct officials to the semi-official returns.

At 2:30 fifty-seven precincts' returns had been checked over. There were no changes in the head of the ticket.
